This is a story of a clever oldman. A king of a country was driving through a particular street of a town. While he was riding he saw an oldman who was working in the field. The King was astonished to see an old man working in the field. He wanted to talk to the old man. He went and asked the oldman how he was able to work in the field. The old man told that he was very interested in cultivating the plants and also he was interested in the field activities. The oldman told the Kind that he had a very big fruit tree and also trees which were of great commercial value. And finally the King was very happy to know about the enthusiasm and the interest which the old man had. He immdiately gave gold coins as a gift to that old man.
Once the King round the village in heavy security. He saw gardens and others. On the a old man planting trees and he is very joyful. The king notice that and he asked the old man. You are an old but you plants the trees. why, The man said thee King said that this mango trees are planted my grandpa and others. Now I am planted the trees to son and childrens also. The Kind exclaimed and he gave some gold coins to the oldman.
In this modern world marked by hurry and bustle, we are not even interested in saving for our future. But this story tells us that we should care for our future generations and should save our resources and should make this world a better place to live.

Once there lived a king who was very much interested in the welfare of his subjects. He used to go around the city often to know about the problems of his citizens.

In the countryside, he noticed an old man planting a mango sapling. He was surprised to see the old man at his ripe old age planting a sapling which would be worthy for him.

The old man said, 'So he got down from his horse and went to the old man and asked him why he was doing so.

The old man replied him that he was not planting the tree for his own purpose but he too can could save something for his future generations and if our ancestors had thought so then we might not be enjoying this comfort today.'
