ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am indeed grateful to Mr. A. George Stephen, Principal, Chikkaiah Naicker College, Erode, and Mr. R. Athmanathan, Head of the Department of Economics, Chikkaiah Naicker College, Erode, for permitting me to enroll as a part-time research scholar in their esteemed institution.

I am greatly indebted to my guide Dr. A. Sarvalingam M.A., M.Phil, Ph.D., Reader, Department of Economics, Chikkaiah Naicker College, Erode, for his invaluable guidance and supervision. Despite his multifarious activities, he has extended constant encouragement and irreproachable assistance, in the preparation of this thesis work and has enabled me to complete it on time. In fact, his patience, kindness and generosity went far beyond the responsibilities of a supervisor. I am grateful to him.

I am grateful to the management of Nirmala College for Women, Coimbatore, for permitting me to carry on my research work. I owe my sincere gratitude to the former Principal, Rev. Sr. Nympha, for allowing me to register as part-time research scholar during her tenure. I am also highly indebted to the present Principal Rev. Sr. Pauline Mary, for her generosity and freedom for allowing me to continue and complete the same.

I am thankful to Dr. G.A. Rekha Pai, Head of the Department of Economics, Nirmala College for Women and my colleagues Mrs. Ruby Margaret for their constant encouragement given during the progress of the study. I am also grateful to Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Angelina, for her constant support throughout my study; it will remain for ever unpaid.
I am immensely thankful to Dr. R. Radhakrishnan, Reader in Statistics, P.S.G.College of Arts and Science, Coimbatore for his invaluable contribution, which helped me to complete this research work.

My mother and my sisters were source of blessing during the entire period of my study. I was supported and encouraged immensely to focus on the research by my husband Mr. N. Vardaraj and my children. I am grateful to all of them. The support of the family was the way in which I received the blessings of The Lord Almighty.

Finally, I thank the Almighty for having given me the will power and good health to reach my goals, at every stage of my study and who has raised me to what I am to day.
