• How do your religious/spiritual beliefs, orientation or practices impact your practice as a therapist?

Over the years we develop a value system that is distilled from a variety of sources both personal and professional. The values that we endorse help us make choices and guide our action. I would like to understand from you about your values and how they guide your work.

• What are the personal and professional values that you hold and how do they influence your therapeutic work?

• Do your personal and professional values converge/ diverge?

• What are the sources of your values?

• Are there times when your values come in conflict with the values of your clients? How do you manage these conflicts in therapy?
REFERENCES

doi:10.1080/13642530902978652

McLeod, J. (2013). Qualitative research: Methods and contributions. In M. J. Lambert (Ed.), Bergin and Garfield’s handbook of psychotherapy and behavior change (pp. 49–84). New York: Wiley.

from India. British Medical Journal, 325(7354), 38–40. doi: 10.1136/bmj.325.7354.38

doi:10.1080/10503300600608439

doi:10.1177/0022022190212001

from

http://scholarsarchive.byu.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=2652&context=etd

