Acknowledgements

I would like express my respect and deep sense of gratitude to all persons from whom I have been receiving the good will, kindness and support. First and foremost, I express my gratefulness to my Supervisor, Professor (Dr.) Inder Mohan Singh for his able guidance in completion of this work. I would also like to express sincere gratitude to Dr. Harpal Singh Pannu, the Head, Guru Gobind Singh Department of Religious Studies, Punjabi University, Patiala, and all other faculty members of the Department for their significant cooperation and support particularly to Dr. Rajesh Ranjan, for his all kind of help and support from the day I reach the Punjabi University, Patiala. Thanks are also due to the library staff of the Punjabi University for providing books and available source materials in the libraries of the University.

I would like to pay respect to the Most Venerable Thich Minh Chau, and the Most Venerable Thich Tu Thong for their special contributions towards the development of Theravada and Mahayana teachings respectively in Vietnam.

I cannot forget to express my deep sense of respect and gratitude to my Master, Venerable Thich Nu. Bao Nguyet for providing spiritual guidance throughout my learning and practicing Buddhism.
Thanks are also due to all my Dharma sisters of my monastery, as well as my parents and other family members for their moral support and help during my study in India.

I cannot forget to thank all my Dharma friends who not only helped me in improving my language skills in English, but also encouraged me from time to time in completion of my research work.
