The research leading to this thesis was carried out by me under the guidance of Prof. C.B. Tigadi, the former Director of Kousali Institute of Management Studies, Karnataka University, Dharwad. Prof. C.B. Tigadi was kind enough to find sufficient time inspite of his hectic activities and busy schedule. Even after his retirement inspite of his age he has guided me with love and affection for which I ever remain grateful to him. Needless to say, without his keen interest, constant encouragement, and dynamic supervision I could not have been able to complete this work.

In this regard, I also wish to record my sincere gratitude to Dr. Bhagwati Prasad, Director, Kousali Institute of Management Studies who has been most kind and helpful in completing this endeavour.

I also wish to thank Prof. S.G. Lele, Dr. V.B. Koujalagi, Prof. R.G. Tagat all of Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore who spent many hours in discussion over the subject matter of this thesis.

In carrying out this work I have benefitted from my interaction with number of small entrepreneurs, bankers.
large industry executives who with their willing cooperation have made this work possible. I would like to make special mention of Shri Sharad Shiroliker who was most helpful with his deep understanding of entrepreneurial problems.

I would be failing in my duty if I do not express my gratitude to my late father whose encouragement to join teaching profession lead to completion of this work.

Members of Prof. Tigadi's family were most helpful throughout. In particular I record my gratitude to Prof. Mrs. Tigadi for her constant interest and encouragement in the progress of the work.

Prof. A.S. Kadi of Department of Statistics, Karnataka University, Dharwad has helped much through his suggestions and keen interest in the work, I am thankful to him.

I thank Mr. S.B. Pawar for his painstaking efforts in completing this typing work and his son Mr. Jayawant who helped much in compilation of the work.

Finally, I would be lacking in gratitude, if I fail to appreciate the affectionate encouragement given by members of my family, who are much happier than me on completion of this study.
