First of all I would like to thank Almighty God without whose blessings, I am nothing. For every beautiful moments of my life, I must not fail to thank Him immensely. I dedicate this reading to my parents, my husband and the joy of my life my children.

This thesis is result of the encouragement, help, support, and kindness of many individuals and institutions given to me over a decade. The idea to research on Nathaniel Hawthorne from new historicist perspective was given to me by teacher Dr. Asim Siddiqui. Since the time of deciding the title of the thesis till the final draft, he was very supportive and responsive. I must acknowledge that though I was writing my as thesis as a teacher candidate, I found no difficulty in completion of my work as he was always there as an unassigned guide for me to give me feedback and much needed guidance.

I am immensely grateful to my well wisher the Principal Women’s College Prof. Bilqis Naseem Waris who sanctioned my leave for Academic pursuit to give me the time I immensely needed to complete my research venture. I am indeed grateful to all my teachers in the college and my friends for their unwavering love and support.
My special thanks are due my teacher Dr. Shagufta Imtiaz who willingly helped me in my endeavor by reading my chapters and giving valuable suggestions. I am greatly indebted to her for giving her valuable time to read my chapters and suggest improvements.

I must appreciate my friend Dr. Munira T. for her unconditional support and help at every stage of my research. She instilled in me the confidence that I can go ahead for the submission of my thesis by a thorough and painstaking reading of the final draft of my manuscript. My friend and elder sister Shahla Ghauri was always by my side with her unconditional advice and support which I can never forget.

My Parents were my constant source of inspiration. They always encouraged me and never let my spirit down through their warmth and unwavering support. They motivated me in every possible way.

My siblings Hina, Midhat, Faria were always by my side with their inspiring words. Especially, my younger sister Noushina was of immense help. She willingly assisted in search of my resources on internet and gave me desperately needed moral boost which I needed more than anything else at times. During the last days of the submission of my thesis, she emerged as a redeeming figure for me.
by taking care of all my other responsibilities and gave me uninterrupted hours of study to wind up my thesis.

I cannot forget to mention the names of my daughter Sundus and son Ayaan who were deprived of my motherly attention during my work on thesis. Their smiles and embraces always rejuvenated me and revived my spirit after lengthy and exhaustive hours of study.

I must especially mention the name of my husband Dr. Abdul Rasheed who was always with me be it my visit to Hyderabad American Centre Library by managing his leave from the hospital or bearing patiently with my busy schedule. I owe a special thanks to him for his being a life partner in the true sense of the word.

I am equally thankful to Osmania University Centre for International Programmes formerly known as ASRC- American Studies Research Centre, Hyderabad. The Library staff was very cooperative in providing research material and bibliographical details. I must acknowledge the role of American Centre Library, New Delhi and Maulana Azad Library of AMU in collecting my reference and context materials to form the basis of my reading.

I apologize for any omission of scholarly indebtedness, all of which, like the other fault of this thesis are quite unintended but wholly mine. Last but not the least a word of gratitude for all my well wishers, whom I have mentioned or not but I recognize their contribution directly or indirectly. I will always be indebted to all those who have supported me in my endeavor with their love and inspiring words.
