ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to acknowledge my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my supervisor Dr. Azad Singh Chhillar, Reader Department of Commerce, M.D. University, Rohtak, whose valuable and expert guidance has been of immense help throughout the study. Despite his numerous engagements and heavy loads of works, he made effort to check the work at every stage and also to supplement with his valuable suggestions. This is mainly due to his stimulating and constructive criticism and constant inspiration throughout the course of investigation that I overcome the various difficulties and completed the work successfully. Dr. Azad Singh Chhillar generously granted me his valuable time and helped me to bring fruition in all respect of research. I feel highly obliged and extremely grateful to Dr. Mahender Singh Malik, Head of the Department of Commerce for all the encouragement and guidance received from him throughout my association. I would like to thank Dr. S.N. Mittal, Dean Faculty of Commerce for enlightenment and brightness given to me whenever required. I also feel highly obliged to the other member of Department of Commerce, M.D.University Rohtak, who bequeathed on me the best of his expertise for work on this thesis. I shall be failing in my duties if I do not express sincere gratitude to the members of Department of Commerce, Delhi School of Economics, and University of Delhi for providing help as and when needed.

I must acknowledge the active co-operation and helped rendered by the Officers of ACC Ltd, Birla Group, J & K Group, CCI, U.P. State Cement Corporation Ltd.; Tamilnadu Corporation Ltd., Planning Commission, Institute of Applied Manpower planning, Xaviour Institute of Human Resource, Tata consultancy services. Cement Research Institute, Cement Manufacturer's Association, National Council for Cement and Building Material (NCB-CCE), Department of Industrial Policy & Promotion Ministry of Industry, Government of India New Delhi; Birla Institute of Scientific Research; Commerce Research Bureau; NCAER; and others who provided direct and indirect support to accomplish the research work.
