ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This research is the outcome of continuous help and encouragement of a few persons one of whom is my supervisor Dr. Kaberi Saha, Associate Professor, Department of Education, Gauhati University. Her motivation and guidance during the preparation of the thesis and the untiring labour she took in examining the draft, are invaluable and rare examples. I express my sincere gratitude to her for her continuous support and encouragement. I wish to express my sincere thanks to Prof. Gayatree Goswamee, Head, Department of Education, Gauhati University and the other faculty members of the department for their valuable advice and encouragement.

My special thanks to the department of Education, Gauhati University for academic and administrative support during the study.

I extend my sincere thanks to Prof. Srinath Baruah, Vice Chancellor and Dr. Madhab C. Sarma, and other colleagues of KKH State Open University, in which I am currently engaged, for their constant support.

I would also like to extend my sincere thanks to the Block Development Officers of Chaiduar Block, Pub Chaiduar Block, Bihaguri Block, and Baghmari Block, who helped in finding out the community inhabited places for conducting the study. They eased much of the trouble during the field work.

For much valuable library resources, I am indebted to Krishna Kanta Handiqui Library of Gauhati University, Women’s Studies Research Center, Gauhati University, Assam Administrative Staff College Library, OKDISCD Library, Assam Institute of Research for Tribals and Schedule Castes, Central Library of KKH State Open University, and National Library of Calcutta.

My deep thanks to my family for all the support and assistance. Earnest thanks to my father Giridhar Bordoloi, who helped me in collecting data from the remote villages by going along with me, my mother Ninamai Bordoloi for her care and support, and my sister Banashree Bordoloi who encouraged me a lot in preparing this thesis. My sincere gratitude to my husband Prasenjit Das for helping me out at the final stage of the thesis.

Finally, I must express my thanks to the warm, affectionate and simple villagers of Sonitpur district whose friendliness and co-operation have made this study an enriching experience. Without their assistance, this research would not have been possible at all.

Place: Guwahati
Date: 30.8.2013

Ritimoni Bordoloi