ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I am extremely grateful to my Supervisor, Dr L.N. Dahiya for his extensive help and encouragement enabling me to complete this research work. He always gladly gave me his valuable time and Au fait guidance. His searching questions, closest analysis and distinctively watchful eye for all looseness of expression have taught me to be more laconic and terse resulting into en-regle presentation of thought and content in this thesis. His enthusiastic inspiration and acuminous suggestions gave me the modus-operandi to devise my though into a thesis.

I am also grateful to Dr O.P. Goyal, Reader & Head of Commerce Department, M.D. University, Rohtak, for his encouragement in the course of writing this thesis. I sincerely express my thanks ab-impepectore to Dr. R.S.Nigam and Dr. P.K.Ghos, Professors, Delhi School of Economics, University of Delhi and to Dr. R.A. Sharma, Reader in Commerce, University of Delhi for their condign help to shift my multifarious thoughts into a schéma. I also thank Dr Rajbir Singh, Lecturer in Psychology, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra, who, by his persistent questionings and keen interest, has been a source of constant direction and inspiration. My thanks also go to Azad Hooda, Lecturer, Naresh Vashishttha and Vijay Mudgal who always helped me in compiling the data and checking work.
I also express my deep sense of gratitude to my parents whose consecutive efforts rocked me from cradle to the glorious path of academics. I am equally grateful to my wife Raj who inspired me con amore in the studies to accomplish the task of writing this thesis despite being busy with her teaching occupation. Her suave responses left me with ample time to ruminate on this project.

My thanks also go to Sh. P.N. Sharma, Dr. B.D. Sharam and the library staff for providing me numerous books and journals which I needed to complete this work. I must also thank Sh. Ram Mehar Pathee, for his great help in the fulfilment of this project.

I wish also to thank most sincerely Mr. Anil Kumar Saini, Proprietor, Saini Commercial College, who in his very limited spare time typed the whole thesis, so expertly and expeditiously.
