ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

With profound feelings of gratitude I acknowledge the contribution of all those who helped me in the course of this study and its completion. First of all I am grateful to Lord Krishna for His benevolence and blessings.

Known words become inadequate to express my gratitude for my revered guide Dr. (Mrs.) Sanjana Shamshery, Department of English, Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla who initiated me into the realm of research and taught me the nuances of research discipline. Without her invaluable suggestions, incessant inspiration and unstinted co-operation, the present thesis would not have been possible. My thanks are also due to her husband Er. Salil Shamshery, and her son Kaustubh.

I record a profound sense of gratitude to Dr. Rekha Sharma, Chairperson, and all the faculty members – Prof. V.P. Sharma, Prof. Pankaj K. Singh, Prof. Girija Sharma and Prof. Jaiwanti Dimri, Department of English, H.P. University, Shimla, for their intellectual guidance, healthy suggestions and perennial encouragement. I am also thankful to Ms. Savitri in the Department Office for giving me unconditional support.

I owe a considerable debt to my family members – mother Mrs. Madhu, father Mr. Ram Ji Dass, grandfather Sh. B.D. Gulati, spouse Mrs. Anamika, brother Mr. Akshaya, bhabhi Mrs. Fooja, mother and father-in-law Mrs. Pramod and Mr. Yash Pal Middha – for their magnificent encouragement that sustained my spirits throughout this venture. The angelic smiles of my children – Ridhima, Samridhi and Bhavya – refreshed me all the time to pursue my work enthusiastically. Last but not least, a word of appreciation and thanks to all my friends and well-wishers – Rev. M.R. Bhagwat, Anju didi, Nirmal Sachdeva, Paul Kaur, Veena Sen, P. K. Bansal, R. N. Mehta, Anjali, Jyoti, Sachin, Suman didi, Abhishek, and Manan.

Date: 25/3/11

(Varun Gulati)