ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am very grateful to my Professor Late Prof. R. Subrahmanyan, a distinguished scholar, researcher and administrator for his unfailing affection and scholarly guidance without which the present work would not have been successfully completed by me. It was rather unfortunate that I could not have the benefit of his advice and guidance during the final stages of the composition of my thesis. I am thankful to Dr. B. Rajendra Prasad, my guide and Research Director who graciously stepped into the breach caused by the sudden demise of Prof. R. Subrahmanyan. The valuable advice, timely guidance of Dr. Rajendra Prasad have enabled me to complete my task for which I am beholden to him.

I am highly thankful to Prof. B.R. Subrahmanyan, Head of the Department of Ancient History & Archaeology for the general interest he has shown in my work.

I am grateful to Prof. N.H. Samarani of B.H.U. who spared his valuable time for discussing some important aspects of my thesis with me which enabled me to get the right perceptive of the subject.
While I was at Nalanda for the collection of material Prof. C.S. Upasak and Ven. Dr. U. Dharmeratna were of immense help to me in directing me to the right source, references and times advice gave a new dimension to the present work for which I am very grateful to them.

I thank Dr. I.K. Sarma, Superintendent Archaeologist Temple Survey Project (South), Madras for helping me with necessary know-how of the library material and valuable suggestion and guidance at Madras.

My thanks are also due to the Librarians of Nava Nalanda Mahavihar, Nalanda, Maha Bodhi Society, Sarnath, Theosophical Library, Adyar, Dr. Kuppuswamy Sastry, Research Institute, Madras and Nagarjuna University.

I thank Dr. V. Rangan of Department of English for his timely advice and encouragement.

With sincere gratitude I record that the work would not have been finished early but for the constant goading of the staff and co-scholars of the Department.
