ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I humbly express deep sense of gratitude to my esteemed guide Dr. Dalip Malhotra, Associate Professor, Department of Psychology, Himachal Pradesh University, Shimla, who has been a beacon of light in inspiring and rendering every help in accomplishing the present investigation. It was his patronage that pushed me ahead at various stages of this research. His whole hearted co-operation, sympathy and patience to improve the quality of this work not only induced clarity and precision in my thinking, but also gave me pleasure and previledge while working under him.

I must thank Dr. Sagar Sharma, Professor and Head, Department of Psychology, H.P. University, Shimla, for the necessary help and inspiring attitude. I remember and record my gratitude towards Dr. A.S. Sethi, Professor, Department of Psychology, H.P. University, Shimla, who has enlightened me on crucial issues relating to this thesis from time to time.

I owe my special thanks to Dr. J.M. Jerath, Reader, Department of Psychology, Punjab University, Chandigarh, for his kind co-operation and help rendered by him at all the stages of the present research work. He has been generous enough and more than co-operative throughout my research work.

My thanks are due to all my friends and colleagues for their timely help and suggestions.

I shall always remain indebted to my parents who have always been a source of inspiration to me and who always encouraged me to pursue the research work. At the same time I am also thankful to my brother, sister-in-law, sisters and brother-in-law, in-laws and especially my husband, Capt. Omkar Singh Sen, who have provided me requisite company and fellow feeling throughout the length and breadth of this work.

My special thanks are due to the 400 (or more) subjects, who sat through the testing sessions with interest and made my task of data collection pleasurable.

Last, but not least, I am also grateful to Mr. Nitya Nand Sharma, who has taken special pains in typing this manuscript for me.

Place: Shimla

MEENAXI THAKUR