ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is an impossible task for a single individual to conduct “A study on the Health Care Practices with Emphasis on the Maternal and Child care among the Savara: a most vulnerable tribe of Andhra Pradesh” without the support, cooperation and help of several people who have played a decisive role either directly or indirectly in completing this thesis. I feel it an appropriate opportunity to acknowledge, thank and pay my gratitude to all of them.

First and foremost, this thesis would not have been possible without the wholehearted support, encouragement and constant supervision from the preliminary stage of this study extended by my Research Director Prof. G. Jaikishan and Joint Research Director Prof. Ch. Bapu Haranath, Prof. D. Prabhakar Rao, Principal of College of Arts & Commerce and Chairman of Board of Studies, Department of Anthropology to whom I express my sincere thanks and heartfelt gratitude.

I owe my deepest gratitude to Prof. CH. Bapu Haranath for his keen interest, encouragement, intellectual companionship and timely guidance. I am very much indebted to him who made this thesis possible. It is an honour to thank Prof. G. Jaikishan, Head of the Department, for his encouragement and immensely thankful to Prof. V. Subhramanyam member of the Doctoral Committee; the faculty members of the Department Prof. P. Vijaya Prakash, Mr. P.D.S.Pal Kumar and Mr. D. Ramesh for their valuable suggestions in finalizing this study. We express our deep respect to Prof. T. Subbarayudu, Andhra University Visakhapatnam. His efforts are acknowledged for reviewing and insightful technical advice to improve this report.

My heart full thanks and appreciation go to my friends T.S.V.L.N.Swamy, L.Giridhar, P. Jyothisrmai, N.Srinivas, G.Bhagyalakshmi, Ch.Avanthi, V.Jayasree and P.Appalanaidu. I express my thanks to Dr. G.V. Ramana, Research
Associate of Anthropological Survey of India for their advises. I wish to acknowledge Dr. V.S. Krishna Library, Andhra University which is the source literature and also Anthropology Faculty and research scholars for the supplement of various reports, text books, research papers and thesis.

I am sincerely indebted to my Father K.R.Narasimham, Mother K.Mahalakshmi who always encouraged and supported me during the entire course of the study and that it would have been next to impossible to write this thesis without the help and guidance of my Brother K.V.N.S.Suryanarayana, Sister S.V.Varalakshmi and Brother in law S.S.Ramakrishna Prasad, and their untiring. I am also thankful to officials of Government and Non-Governmental Organizations, Community health workers, School teachers, Anganwadi workers, Village headmen, local informants for their valuable assistance rendered in the collection of various information.

My sincere thanks are due to the people of Savara for their excellent co-operation, hospitality; love and affection during the course of field work and data collection and this piece of researches are useful and serve good purposes for all humankind.

Lastly, I offer my regards to all those who supported me in several respects for completion of the thesis and I whole-heartedly thanks to Manmadha Rao and Raja Rao
