Acknowledgements

In scientific research, success largely depends on the Guide, his guidance, willingness to help, continually, ability to understand the problems and his attitude in accommodating the needs of the scholar. I was singularly fortunate to have Dr. M. Jayarama Hegde, M.Sc., M.S. (Oregon), Ph.D., Professor & Chairman, Department of Biosciences, Mangalore University as my Guide in doing my Ph.D. programme. Scholarly and sharp he is, he had shown me the right approach to the pursuit of knowledge and let me place on record my indebtedness to him. My humble thanks to him can not be properly expressed in a few words.

I can not forget the facilities provided to me by the Former Chairman of the Department of Biosciences, Prof. M.N. Madhyastha. I sincerely thank him.

I am failing in my duty if I do not mention the technical help provided by Prof. M. Edward Gururaj, Retired Professor of Zoology, University of Mysore, Manasagangotri, Mysore. I thank him profusely. I also express my affectionate gratitude to Dr. K.S. Sreepada, Lecturer in Zoology, Department of Applied Zoology, Mangalore University, for his valuable support in techniques and writing this thesis. I consider it appropriate to thank Late Dr. K. Gopinath, Former Faculty, Post Graduate Department of Zoology, University of Mysore, Manasagangotri, Mysore for his timely suggestions.

I am greatly obliged to thank Prof. Virakthamutt, Professor of Entomology, G.K.V.K., Bangalore for his sustained help in identifying the grasshopper specimens. Equally important was the help extended by Prof. T.S. Narendran, Professor and Head of Entomology Department, University of Calicut, Calicut and experts Entomology Department of Tamilnadu Agricultural University, Coimbatore. I thank them profusely.

I place on record my sincere gratitude for the support given to me by Dr. K.V. Rao, former Director, College Development Council, Mangalore University, who was responsible for me availing the teacher fellowship.

I remember with gratitude the support given to me by Dr. (Mrs.) K.K. Vijayalaxmi, Chairperson, Department of Applied Zoology in taking up and completing this work. I was indeed helped a lot by Dr. K.R. Sridhar, Dr. M. Krishnamoorthy and other members of the faculty and non-teaching staff of Department of Biosciences in one way or the other. I thank each one of them individually.

My special thanks are due to Dr. N.S. Raviraja, Principal Investigator, DST sponsored Young Scientist Project and Dr. Nithyanand Maddodi, Guest Lecturer, for the help in statistical analysis of the results and their active co-operation.

Here I also remember with sincerity, the Library facilities provided by the Librarians of GKV, Bangalore, Tamilnadu Agricultural University, Coimbatore, University of Mysore, Mysore and Mangalore University, Mangalagangotri.
Let me express my heartfelt thanks to the Management in general and Principal Prof. K. Shankar Bhat in particular, Sri Venkataramana Swamy College, Bantwal, without whose support my project would not have materialised.

My sincere thanks are due to Prof. K.P.P. Sharma, Former HOD of English Department, S.V.S. College, Bantwal for the correction work of the script.

My affectionate thanks are also due to Prof. Vrashabaraj, Mr. Thukaram Poojary and Mrs. Bharathi Bhat, my colleagues in the college for their help in various capacities.

At this juncture, I wish to thank my research colleagues, Ms. Maria Gretta Lobo, Dr. Arun Bhagwath, Dr. Rekha P.D. and Dr. K.C. Shashikumar for their co-operation in various matters.

My thanks are also due to Mr. K.V. Rao, Photographer-Cum-Artist of the department for his microphotographic assistance.

I remember with love and affection the unstinted, and timely help of Mr. Mahesh, in bringing out the write-up in this form.

I also acknowledge with gratitude the printing work done by M/s. Shubha Xerox, Mangalore.

My thanks are due to the University Grants Commission, SWRO, Bangalore, for the teacher fellowship and the Department of Collegiate Education, Mangalore for the study leave.

Lastly I remember with satisfaction the sustained support extended and hardship encountered by my kith and kin during these hectic days of hard work, when I was away in the laboratory they missed me much more than I missed them. Thanks to my family members and well wishers.

(SEETHARAMA MAYYA)