CHAPTER V

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS AND SUGGESTIONS

FINDINGS

· The survey and subsequent study of the facts of the surface, which is only the tip of the iceberg showed. So many aspects of which have yet to be studied.

· The study of domestic violence against women is prevalent among middle and higher socio-economic classes in the show. Do not indulge in victimization of women economically well off classes that vision is negated.

· It is also a good way to economic independence of women, victims of domestic violence to be observed that the extra is.

· The study clearly establish her husband and that alcoholism

In the marital family after family is forced to be the main reasons for domestic violence.

· state system (police and judiciary), clearly the power centers of society, rather than being seen as service providers and rarely solve their problems by victims of domestic violence is resorted.
· Study of the husband and mother-in-law reveals that perpetrators of domestic violence.

This calls for the state machinery to fight for human rights victims to enable them to provide all necessary resources.

Despite their awareness of the judiciary or the administration of the police to solve their problem fails to take shelter. In this state machineries, lack of confidence shows.

· 30% of respondents in this age even though they are a victim of domestic violence for the sake of the children of the marriage should have.

· by interviews with police officers from the police's attempt to reconcile with the relatives and family members will contact the police as a last resort and then only that which was expected.

· One year, an average of 20 cases of domestic violence covered in the survey have been registered at the police station. If it is a criminal offense under the domestic violence community, a fact that is highlighted.

· Refusal to register a DV case continues, the police state
If it is a family matter that, once a case registered by the police need to take action because of the strained relations led to the breakdown of the marriage was brought to the police station.

Women victims contacted the police authority · life threatening, severe physical violence, verbal and mental abuse leading to stress and agony of circumstances.

· under police special cell for women only because of a lack of public awareness of the extent to which effective.

On the act faced by police officers · great problem, but also with their relatives and husband, is the misuse of the law.

· The study of women in response to their experience of domestic violence in an attempt to identify ways to take. The victim, whether they are helpful sources, seek help from individuals or organizations that were asked. Women can ask for help from organizations and individuals in a wide range. By default they Natal is one of the most important source of support for family members sought help from. In addition, women also sought support from social workers. But the only defendant to take refuge in the police report.

· Results Women’s education and no significant relationship between domestic violence and their experience shows.

- Under the PWDVA Act implementation and the availability of infrastructure is a significant response on the part of the judiciary. The number of cases filed in court for a year is about 10. Protection Officer is appointed, but unable to do justice to the work allocated to them, therefore, is also holding other offices. By default, protection and maintenance orders are enforced mostly by the victim. CrPC procedure is adopted for serving the notice. Legal aid is available for victims of domestic violence.

- PWDVA Act suggests that a substantial number of cases filed in court, which has not been increased or reduced, and this is due to lack of awareness among litigants.

Act as may be, he will fail and an hour to raise awareness for the need to act by the authorities of the state-level legal services in rural and urban level is to conduct legal literacy programs.

SUGGESTIONS

Legal and institutional intervention in domestic violence Social justice and social change needs to be re-located. What is needed is a rights-based strategy to prevent the Domestic violence, which meshes with the general teachings of the Treaty The power of grassroots activism and critiques. The right to make Global is the case, specific and useful strategy to build a non-Violence and gender egalitarian society must be developed locally.
· There is counseling and help at hand is readily available to all women Committee / Board, formal authority must be provided locally, and should be quite within their reach. In justice to the corrupt practice of making sure that the empowerment of the authority, is required.

· Disturbing was the fact that a very high level of pessimism among affected women's lives, and they get justice in a timely manner on the whole not very optimistic. This problem will be addressed on priority through motivational talks and counseling.

· The lives of hundreds of irreparable damage Thousands of women have compensated or denied, but rehabilitation will not be required to provide with some relief. This at least will inspire women to voice their protest peacefully with DV. As a trend that women should be involved in the campaigns and counseling.

· The main challenge lies in getting women to report Incidence of domestic violence. The next challenge anything in court as a criminal offense takes place within the privacy of homes, proving, for these women is near impossible. Legal norms legal strategies to prevent violence against women is not only a challenge but also social surviving Gender constructions.

· efforts to eradicate the epidemic of violence against women and Girls should not proceed from, and each layer can be reinforced by Individual of the society on the international community. However, they should not be limited to the legal and institutional Update, this addresses only the manifest crime and Unable to produce the necessary changes to the deep roots Where justice and equality prevail to create a culture Anxiety authoritarian power and physical force. Internal and external dimensions of human life really is Table - without one the other can not be improved. It is a Now require an internal, moral and ethical dimension Provides the foundation for transformation and ultimately determined Women and girls to rise up to the values and behavior and Promote the advancement of all mankind turn.

- Public Awareness: The Central and State Governments under Section 11, in the public domain, is duty bound to build awareness on the law. The print and electronic media and other means can be done through a media campaign.

- Training on the law: Under Section 11, it is the duty of To provide for the training of central and state governments.

- Putting in place the infrastructure: the necessary infrastructure and Appropriate budgetary allocation is required for all States Effective implementation of the law.

However, the responsibility to put in place Infrastructure state governments, has been a The PWDVA is a central law can not lose sight of the fact that. The Centre has a duty to create a federal structure States for purposes of the adequate budget. The law enforcement.

- Appointment of Protection Officers: Focus must be placed on the appointment of Protection Officers. All Protection officers must be full-time basis, training on legislation and appointments, should be appropriate. The role Equal protection officer must be understood as Court "outreach officers". Their duty is to access the facility Courts. They are part of the infrastructure of the Court inasmuch as the fact that the implementation of the findings and order of the court to assist the court.

- serve as an entry in the Register of service I do not have much in the same providers must be Women will be better able to access them, but because To guide the protection officer will be able to rely on them. All in Women's groups with long-standing experience in the States Works with women's rights issues. Such organizationsProtection Support and guidance will play a valuable role Officers in the discharge of their duties. However, clarity is Should only those who volunteer or private service providers Register.

- Identification of qualified counselors: This is also important Especially keeping in mind the need for qualified counselors to identify Referrals to counseling ordered by higher rates Magistrate. Service counselors can be identified, Such services are provided.

- has created a multi-agency response: Protection Officers in the multi-agency response, the police need to build there. Legal services authorities, service providers and counselors, help women facing domestic violence. The response is needed. Coordination of the various departments of Partnership with government and civil society organizations.

- Legal Services Authorities: The Legal Services Authorities have to play an important role in facilitating access to justice, especially for women who cannot afford lawyers. The National and state legal services authorities must recognize women lawyers filing cases under this Act for the panel. The Adequate training and encourage lawyers to be paid Provision of legal aid.

- Police: For most women, the police are the first port of call; their vast infrastructure that regard. Police staff, Training should be given to the states to provide information Section 5 of the command PWDVA. They Civil create a result, women refer to the state should be Jurisdiction in proceedings for Protection Officers. They should also be aware of the provisions of the PWDVA Medical, women's access to service providers Facility Order Facilities, shelter homes and other support services. It Police protection officer ought to work together Women are provided to ensure protection against acts Domestic violence. Evidence from the study, particularly in the service court directed the police to assist in discharging duties are crucial Instruction and approved by the order of execution in the Court.
· Judiciary: The PWDVA civil law and was not intended to Prevents direct access to the Court. Therefore, no provision, rule or Should not be construed to deny or obstruct the process directly Or in any way impede access to court proceedings. One Clarification may be issued with regard to the proviso DIR’s not mandatory Section 12 (1)

Measuring the true prevalence Violence, however, is a complex task. Available statistics By the police, women’s centers, and general other Organizations often underestimate the level of violence under Report.

· school programs to promote gender sensitivity and Students for college level, to prepare them for their life Their counterparts trained to treat them with the dignity And equality, to eliminate gender discrimination and End of the process, allow each other space. The urgent need for domestic violence against women Hours.
