ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the preparation of this thesis I have received immense help and encouragement from many. My gratitude to each of them is unlimited.

First of all I express my sincere thanks to Dr. S.M. Mohamed Koya, the former Professor and Head of the Dept. of History, University of Calicut, under whose supervision this study was made. He was always a source of inspiration and he spelt out all kinds of guidance in my effort to complete this task. Though inadequate, I once again convey my gratitude to him in these humble words.

I am also greatly indebted to Dr. K.N Ganesh, Reader and former Head of the Dept. of History, University of Calicut. He not only suggested me to relate print with public sphere in the study but also showered so many invaluable inputs for its fruitful completion. I also remember with gratitude Dr. K. Gopalankutty, Reader, Dept. of History, University of Calicut who extended me, many a advice pertaining to this topic. I am grateful to Dr. T.M. Vijayan, Head of the Dept. of History who gave me much help. I also extend my thanks to Sri. K.P. Velayudhan, and Sri. K.S. Madhavan, the Lecturers of the Dept. of History, University of Calicut.

I am very much grateful to Dr. M.G.S. Narayanan, Professor and former Head of the Dept. of History, University of Calicut for the precious inputs he has supplied in the discussions I had with him. He encouraged me always by enquiring eagerly about the progress of research. I acknowledge my thanks to Dr. K.J. John and Dr. V. Kunhali. I am also deeply indebted to all my fellow researchers including Prof. P.P. Abdul Razak and Dr. M.R. Manmathan, and non-teaching staff of the Dept. of History, University of Calicut. I also thank the staff of the History Dept. Library, C.H. Muhamed Koya Library and Malayalam Dept. Library, University of Calicut.

I always remember with sincere gratitude all the staff of various libraries and repositories inside and outside Kerala who permitted me to refer the materials and sources useful in this study. I acknowledge my special thanks to the staff of Nehru Memorial Museum and Library New Delhi, National Archives New Delhi, ICHR Library New Delhi, Tamil Nadu Archives Chennai, KCHR Library Thiruvananthapuram, Public Library Thiruvananthapuram, CDS Library Thiruvananthapuram, Kerala University Library Thiruvananthapuram, Appan Thampuram Library Trissur, Kerala Sahithya Academy Library Trissur, Kerala Press Academy Kakkanad, Malayala Manorama Library Kottayam, Desaposhini Library Kuthiravattam, Calicut, Sanskrit University Library Kalady and Regional Archives Calicut. I thank the authorities of Mathrubhoomi who permitted me to refer to the back volumes of Mathrubhoomi newspaper and also the library staff who provided me all kinds of help in this effort.

The noted scholar Sri. G. Priyadarshanan who has made profound studies in the field of print and journalism extended me not only his precious guidance and information but also allowed me to use his personal library just like a member of his own household. I express my unlimited gratitude to him and the members of his family. Dr. M. Vijayalakshmy, Head of the Dept. of History, N.S.S. College Manjeri has also provided me with invaluable guidance and tips in this study. I express her my gratitude now.

There are several individuals who have supported me much, with inputs and insights, showering invaluable information and sharing precious knowledge and thus enabled me to unearth changes and challenges witnessed by the pioneers of vernacular journalism. Murkoth Ravunni I.A.S, former Press Academy Chairman Thomas Jacob, veteran journalists like Theruvath Raman, M. Rasheed, K.P. Kunhimoosa, Mannalath Sreedharan, Dharmaraj Kaloor, former Librarian of Mathrubhoomi V. Parukutty Amma, Dr. M. Gangadharan, Dr. J. Devika, Prof. P. Venu and so on include this list. My thanks are due to one and each among them.

I thank the University Grants Commission for awarding me a fellowship under Faculty Improvement Programme. I also thank the Principal and Management of St. Mary’s College Sulthan Bathery for allowing me to do this work under FIP scheme.

Above all, I am most indebted to my husband Sri. Sebastian Joseph in this study. Without his active support, guidance and personal sacrifice this work would never have been materialized. Also I would not have been able to complete this work without the co-operation and help of my beloved kids Chitra and Rahul.
