ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Feelings of love and respect cannot be fully and completely expressed in words as the words are unable to express it in the same way they are felt. Today, I feel myself helpless to find suitable words to express my gratitude to my teacher, guide and supervisor Dr. Vimal Joshi, who took keen interest in the progress and completion of this research work. My supervisor Dr. Vimal Joshi has been the main force behind digging such deep foundations of this research work on "Juvenile Justice in India A Study of Legislative Policies, Judicial Trends and Social Perspective." His superb guidance, philosophical approach and friendly encouragements have contributed for the completion of this research work. It is only because of his deep sense of devotion, sincerity and hard work that this research work has been completed in proper time. For this I express my deep gratitude to Dr. Vimal Joshi under whose mature and scholarly guidance, this research work has been completed. I am wholeheartedly indebted to him for his close supervision and guidance rendered at various stages to accomplish this research work despite his preoccupation with other academic involvement.

I am highly indebted to Prof. (Dr.) K.P.S. Mahalawar for his valuable suggestions and inspiration which, he has given to me throughout the period of this research work.

I am also thankful to Dr. C.P. Sheoran and Prof. (Dr.) Naresh Kumar for their sympathetic and cooperative attitude during my research work. I am also fortunate to have easy access to widely experienced Prof.(Dr.) Preet Singh. His telescopic vision always pulled me out of the darkness of ignorance. He was kind to have always welcomed me for discussion and left me enlightened with the pat on my back out of some pearls from the deep oceans of study of my subject. I am sincerely grateful to him.

My sincere thanks is also to Dr. Kailash Kumar and Dr. Ashok Kumar for enlightening me cheerfulness and confidence in preparation of this research work.

I am highly indebted to Dr. Asha Sharma who remained a rich source of encouragement for an in-depth study of the subject.
I am also thankful to Sh. Rajeev Mohan Saxena, Add. Public Prosecutor for providing me some latest cases and articles relevant to my research work.

My special thanks to Shri D.K. Sharma and Smt. Rekha Sharma, Prema Sharma and Mohit Sharma for their emotional nourishment and support to me.

I express my sincere thanks to Shri Parveen K. Sharma, Advocate for providing me relevant books and guidance relating to my research work.

I am extremely indebted to my father Lt. Col. Amar Singh and mother Smt. Indrawati, who always remain a source of inspiration and encouragement.

I am highly indebted to my wife Mrs. Shashi Bhardwaj to whom I had put to much inconvenience by continuously absorbing myself in my research work. Further, my son Shrenik Bhardwaj and daughter Adamya Bhardwaj also provided me a sense of zeal in the completion of this research work.

My sincere thank is also to Shri Mukesh Kumar, who stood by me and did needful whenever required.

Under inspiration from Dr. Vimal Joshi, I spent a good common and value aided time in the rich library of District Court, Gurgaon which provided me with good books and case laws. I was provided with all possible facilities by the Library staff. I acknowledge their wholehearted contribution in this research work. Nevertheless, the authors of uncountable number of books and articles, I went through in the library have given a shape and content to my research work. A few of them find a reference in this research work but a large number of others are those, from whom I borrowed rich ideas. I am grateful to all the authors, having been formally quoted or not.

In short, every credit of this research work goes to my teacher, senior, jurists and men from all walks of life, which were the fountains of information, knowledge and guidance for my research. I am put to be blamed for weaknesses, if any, of this research work.
