REFERENCES

70 Chalofsky, Neal E. Meaningful workplaces: Reframing how and where we work. John Wiley and Sons, 2010.

National Family Health Survey NFHS III International Institute for Population Sciences (IIPS) and Macro International. 2007.

Nayanthara Som. 2007. www.expresshealthcare.com

NFHS III, National Family Health Survey III, Morbidity and Health Care In India: Volume I, 2005–06:

Richard Parkes Cordock. All employees are marketers ELW Publishing Bath, UK.2009. Available from www.green-ebookshop.net/all-employees-are-marketers/

Schneider, B and Bowen, D. E. Winning the service game (pp. 31-59). Springer US, 2010.

Shi, G and Tomioka, R. 2006. Towers Perrin study finds 8% of Chinese workers feel highly engaged: The more disengaged workers want to stay with their company, while the more engaged employees are at greater risk of leaving: Management needs to create more transparent structure and performance-based reward systems to engage key talent. Available from www.towersperrin.com

