All Praise is for Allah, the most beneficent and merciful. May Allah’s peace and blessings be upon Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, his family and companions.

As a start-up researcher, I consciously prefer to admit that any merit in this empirical effort is the beauty of the research and flaws if any are that of the researcher which I hope to overcome in future. The readers are duty bound to honestly pin point any such flaws.

My extreme thanks go to my Supervisor and Mentor Prof. Khurshid Iqbal Andrabi for constantly guiding me throughout this scientific endeavour. Throughout my academic carrier his influence upon me has been constantly that of a guide multiplied by parental spirit. Be it in a form of a concerned teacher, a helpful guide, an unconditional friend, a patient listener, he has always stood up for me as per my requirements. He has truly been my stress buster over these years. His never die attitude has helped me to complete this taxing task, which otherwise was full of sustained sufferings. He has always been a proponent of self belief and it is because of him I have learned that unjust criticism should always be considered as a disguised blessing because no one ever kicks a dead dog. Hence working with him has not only helped me grow as a better researcher but also as a better individual. It is only because of his frequent counselling sessions I have started understanding life from its practical perspective. Literally speaking I do not have a graphic expertise to show via diagram or curve his ratio of efforts in boosting my morale day in and day out. I pray to almighty that this relation continues for years to come.

One more word of thanks is preferred to other academia of the department viz Prof. Rais Qadri, Prof. Khalid Fazili, Dr. Ehtisham-ul-Haq, Dr. Firdous Khanday, Dr. Mahboob-ul-hassan, Mr. Bilal Reshi, Dr. Abrar Qurashi, Dr. Altaf Bhat who have been there to filter out all nefarious influence from me in a supreme effort that is being printed and presented to the evaluators. Administration staff was there to provide me all the helpful inputs I required. I have been provided the support many times more than I deserve.

I am thankful to my co-worker and friend Ms. Qussin Basharat for her unconditional support throughout this period. She has been actively involved in successful execution of this work. She is the one who stood by me when I was struggling for survival in the lab. It is because of her constant efforts I was able to brave the odds and execute this work successfully. Words fail me to express my appreciation for her persistent confidence in me even when I, myself was down with it.

I am lucky to have my younger sister Rabiya Majeed as one of my co-workers. She has always stood at front taking inputs from me and helping me out with her research skills whenever and wherever required. Though she has never questioned my wisdom, she has always put forth valuable suggestions in the lab and back home for better execution of this work and also for making me a better individual.

Ghazia Shah, a new entrant to our lab has been no less than a sister. Her undaunting character has prompted me to push myself up whenever I felt the heat. Her excellent computer skills have helped me design the diagrams required for this work. She has always provided me technical assistance whenever I was in need of that. She truly has been a well wisher for successful execution of this work.

It is important to mention two of my close associates Ehsaan Abdullah and Tawseeq Abdullah, former being a researcher and latter a would-be researcher, for their support and encouragement. Their blood relationship, as both happen to be brothers to each other, has always saved me time as I manage to talk to both on a single visit. Their unconditional support and concern for my welfare has been the reason I always find peace in their company. I am supremely confident that if I was to call them even during dead of the night they would make themselves available without asking a question.

My little sister Salma Majeed has always been a source of happiness to me. Literally speaking her presence means a world to me. I have always cherished her company and I pray to Almighty that she always remains blessed.

I also wish to acknowledge my deep appreciation to all the scholars of the department viz Nadeem, Zahoor, Asiya, Sabreena, Dr. Mehwish, Dr. Mushtaq, Rubiya Dar, Dr. Asif, Basit, Mujeeb, Younis, Khursheed, Basharat, Abid, Zubair, Shahid, Mudasir, Arif, Raihana, Irfana, Taseen, Henah, Sumaiya, Rehana, Rabiya, Sameer, Taseem, Saif, Umer, Ashiq, Zeenat, Dr. Aejaz who maintained friendly atmosphere all along during this period.

I express thanks to my Grandmother for her unconditional love and prayers. Even though she doesn’t understand the path I have chosen, she has always been supportive. Her prayers play a great part in completion of my doctoral thesis.

This acknowledgement would be incomplete without mentioning a word of appreciation for my revered parents. They are the ones who grew me up. They have taught me to speak the first word I would have spoken with much difficulty. They took care of me when I was not even able to stand on my legs and they continue to take care of me even when I can look after myself. Their support has been invariably unconditional. They have always sacrificed their comfort for me. My vocabulary utterly fails in expressing my gratitude to them. They have brought me to this stage and their contribution stands at pedestal in making me able to pursue my studies.
