The future work can be aimed at studying application of other monomers for the antibacterial modification of fibrous polymer. The other fibres can also be modified for antibacterial performance. Electrokinetic properties in case of other dyes like mostly used reactive dyes can also be tried. Other application of chitosan and its derivatives can be tried to get multifunctional finishing of textiles.