ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Penning down heartfelt feelings for Acknowledgement is a tedious but most pleasing task for me. I am experiencing mixed feelings of gratitude towards all those kind persons who have helped throughout the process, and fulfilment in terms of their help which has born fruits today in the form of this doctoral thesis. I would like to express my due gratitude to everyone who helped in even small way but could not be given particular mention here.

My thesis for Ph.D. in Commerce and Management is not an end of my research but a new beginning. It’s a beginning for a new career, it’s a beginning for more challenging work, it’s a beginning for fulfilling tasks; it’s a beginning to be more creative, innovative, so on and so forth. Dr. Anil P. Sarode, my Research Guide makes this beginning possible. I learnt many things from Dr. Anil Sarode Sir, such as time management, neatness, accuracy and perfection even in the smallest task, etiquettes, manners and humbleness, professional approach, balanced temperament, and much more. He has been a guide to me beyond my research work. Words merely cannot envelop my deep sense of gratitude and respect to Dr. Anil Sarode Sir. I owe a lot to Sir and I mean it. I am very much indebted to the HR Heads of various Organisations, for sparing their valuable time and sharing their experiences, in connection with my research work, which has immensely contributed to my research work.

My Special thanks also go to Mr. Prof. Ghatpade Sir for his support in preparation of various graphs and Analysis. I am highly obliged to Ph.D. Section, University of North Maharashtra Jalgaon for their overall assistance and humble approach.

My Husband Mehul D. Vadia is the main motivator, driving force and who is indeed instrumental to my research work. My son Samip was always to support me, in my activity and never complained about my absence on many family and school related functions. A special thanks to my family. Words cannot express how grateful I am to, my mother Sarala Gade, and brothers Mahesh and Umesh Gade for all of the sacrifices that you’ve made on my behalf. Your prayer for me was what sustained me thus far. I would also like to thank my friend Archna Gadeker who supported me in writing, and incanted me to strive towards my goal.

To sum up, I thank the anonymous power that motivates me always and will always do so. I also thank many seen and unseen contributions.

Without the enthusiastic encouragement, good wishes and moral support of my beloved I could have not completed the work. They took upon themselves, all family responsibilities ungrudgingly and patiently. I place on record my appreciation for all my well-wishers.
