CHAPTER – III
PROFILE OF NGOS

3.1. INTRODUCTION

NGOs in Karnataka are diversified largely on geographical and functional base. They are divergent with respect to size, function, area of operation, legal status, and the like. For the purpose of this research only large NGOs working in the area of disability, women, children and rural development were considered. The large NGOs were identified based on the secondary source of data like directories of NGO, NGO network systems, NGO portals and Government reports. In Karnataka, according to the data furnished in NGO Partnership programme, initiated by ‘Planning commission of India’, there are 1812 registered NGOs under the ministry of rural development, women and child welfare. Among these organisations, those organisations which operate purely on paid employees and operate in two or more districts with more than 100 paid staff are listed. In total 26 such organisations were identified. Among this, 22 organisation provided permission to take up the survey. In this chapter profile of all the organisations considered for the study is presented. The profile of the organisation is based on the information given by the senior staff/ HR Manager of the organisation and the website of the organisation. The major aspects included in the profile are name, registration, address, chief founders, vision, mission, geographical spread and activities.
