ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This research work is the result of constant encouragement guidance and cooperation of many persons in many ways, which initiated me to move ahead. This would not have become possible without the support and active co-operation extended by my guide, teachers, my family, well-wishers, friends, colleagues, students and many others in the field. At this stage, it is my prime duty to express my gratitude and thanks from the bottom of my heart to all those who directly and indirectly helped me to reach this stage.

I consider it a great privilege to place on record my deep sense of gratitude to my guide Dr. B. H. Suresh, Professor, Department of studies in Commerce, University of Mysore, Manasagangotri, Mysore. I am grateful for him for providing an opportunity to take up research under his supervision as a research scholar. In these years I have benefited a lot from his unsurpassed knowledge and experience and which have always contributed to steer things in the right direction. The constructive criticism, scholarly guidance, patience and excellent advice during the preparation of this thesis have been invaluable, for which I am extremely grateful. I am very thankful for his inspiration and extremely grateful to him. I express my profound gratitude and respect to him.

I am grateful to the University of Mysore which is always the source of inspiration for me since my post graduation days, for having enabled me to pursue my research work.

I owe my gratitude to my professor Dr. G. Kotreshwar, Professor, Department of Commerce, University of Mysore, for his insightful corrections and valuable suggestions. I am thankful to Dr. Nagendra Babu K. Chairman and Associate Professor, DOS in Commerce, University of Mysore for his suggestions. I express gratefulness to Prof. H. Rajashekar, Dr B. Nagaraju, Dr N. Nagaraja and Dr. M. L. Ashoka for their valuable suggestions and encouragement. My sincere thanks go to all the non-teaching staff members of the DOS in Commerce.

Words are short to thank Dr. Yashwanth Dongre, Professor, Third Sector Research Center, Manasagangotri, Mysore. His encouragement made me to take-up research in the area of third sector. I am grateful for him for his continuous support, expert advice and encouragement.
With great pride and privilege, I express my profound sense of gratitude and heartfelt thanks to Smt. Parameshwari, Assistant Professor PES College, Mandya and Dr. S. Manju, Associate Professor, Maharanis College for inestimable guidance, constant availability, insightful suggestions, inspiration and support rendered throughout my study.

I am extremely thankful to Dr. Basavraj, Dr. Balasubramanya and Sri. Sudharshan of V-LEAD, for their guidance and support at various stages of this study. I sincerely express my profound gratitude, love and respect at this stage.

I am grateful to all the NGOs for permitting me to conduct the study in their esteemed institution and also for providing the needed moral support during the entire course of this research work. I appreciate their keen interest, patience and cooperation evinced for successful completion of the study. Deepest thanks to the participants for extending their cooperation, without which it would have been impossible for me to conduct my study.

I gratefully acknowledge the Libraries of University of Mysore, Third Sector Research Center, Mysore, SDM-IMD Mysore and ISEC, Bangalore, for their permission, cooperation and assistance in collection of the study material and relevant literature.

The research friends, an active team of research scholars, always helped me in exchange of knowledge and sharing of ideas through discussions. Many more thanks to them and wish them all success in their research journey.

I am extremely thankful to Principal and all my colleagues of Shri Shankar Anand Singh, Government First Grade College, Hospet, for their continuous cooperation and encouragement. I feel proud and thankful to all my students who are the real source of inspiration for my perseverance.

I have no words to thank my most loving parents; my father T.A. VenkobaRao, my mother Smt. Radha, aunt Smt. Bharati, and sister Ms. Varija, my sincere thanks for their sacrifices, blessings and constant support. At this movement I would like to remember my grandparents Sri Anantha Rao and Smt. Shamalabai for their love towards women education and development, that inspired me to take up higher education. It would be meaningless if I don’t remember my mentor Sri. M.N.Shankar, and all my teachers, who inspired me with their values and principles. I am thankful for them for all that they have provided me. My husband Mr. M.S. Prashanth always encouraged me, stood beside me in all my ups and down. All the pains undertaken during my research were turned as blessings due to the positive spirit inculcated by my husband. My son Prabhav extended his cooperation beyond his limits. I am deeply thankful to my husband and my son for their support, love and care all the time. My in-laws Sri M.N.Sundarraj and Smt Indira, with great respect towards individuality and education, always inspired me and supported me in all my efforts. I am fortunate enough to have them. My special thanks to my brother-in-law Mr. Pavan Kumar, for his timely suggestions and support. I thank all my family members, relatives and friends for encouraging me, making me stronger.

I deeply appreciate Mr. Naveen Kumar M., MNK Solutions, 14th Main, Saraswathipuram, Mysore, for the arduous work, he has done in formatting the thesis and associated with the task of printing.

I am profoundly indebted to all the experts who contributed time and effort towards validating and refining the tools used in the present study, my discussion with each of them was enlightening and beneficial.

Nothing is possible without god’s grace. I believe being optimistic about spirituality. My gurus and their blessings provided me the courage, competence and confidence. My humble Namaskar at their feet for showered blessings.
