ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I express my gratitude to my supervisors, Professor R.N. Srivastava and Dr. Kapil Kapoor for their valuable help, guidance, suggestions and the great friendly interest they took in my work.

I am thankful to Professor Ray Williams of the College of St. Mark and St. John, Plymouth, earlier at Aston University, Birmingham, with whom I had consultation during my field trip to Britain. To Professor C.D. Narasiamiah and Dr. R.S. Gupta, I am thankful for their many valuable suggestions particularly about parameters involved in the socio-cultural valuation of texts.

J.N.U. was kind enough to provide me a field-trip to Britain and study leave for two years while the British Council provided me with a Visitorship which helped me extend my stay in Britain and spend more time in the libraries there. The U.G.C. provided me financial assistance under the minor research project scheme. I thank them all as well as the librarian and staff of the National Archives library, New Delhi and Mrs. Sharma, librarian of the Central Board of Secondary Education library without whose help it would not have been possible to gain access to the last fifty years' syllabi of the CBSE.
I am thankful to all my colleagues and students who in several ways helped me in this work.

Finally, I am thankful to Mr. M.N. Talwar and M/S Printways, Hauz Khas, for the typing work and Miss Anju Sharma for the computerised tabulation.
