ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express deep gratitude to Professor Krishna Bhardwaj without whose patient and illuminating guidance the present work may not have been possible. The many and long discussions I had with her were crucial in clarifying and crystallising my ideas. I would also like to thank Professor Amit Bhatnagar for his comments on an earlier draft of the thesis. Although discussions with him were few and short — they were extremely stimulating and interesting.

I am deeply indebted to all the people who helped me conduct my field work, particularly Sardar Tarlok Singh and Sardar Mithu Singh Premi. Their assistance in establishing a foothold in the villages was invaluable.

I am also very grateful to my husband, who showed exemplary patience in accommodating my most disorienting demands. My thanks to Mr. R.N. Srivastava for doing a very neat and efficient job of typing.
