Acknowledgement

Finally the day has come to look around and think about the people who were source of support and inspiration for me. I am deeply sentimental in writing this section of my thesis. Words usually fall short when it comes to pay the gratitude.

Proness to exaggerate is natural weakness of human being, but it is no exaggeration in saying that my mentor Prof Rajendra Prasad is the “best supervisor” one could ever think of and therefore I am extremely lucky to get such wonderful, unestimatable genius teacher and guide in him. Despite of his stature and such busy schedule he remains always close to his students. There are innumerable qualities for which I had privilege to inherit from him. His never say die attitude, wonderful organizing power extremely systematic approach and extraordinary scientific temperament makes doing science not only easy but enjoyable. These five years have been the most wonderful and memorable years of my student life. His exemplary administrative skills really made it easy to access and manage things particularly the conferences that we organized under his wise supervision. Even the “annual lab cleaning” becomes enjoyable with him. He never made us feel helpless because of any shortage of scientific help or any resources needed for our study.

On personal front he always considered all of his students as his family and helped in grooming not only Science but overall individual personalities. To break monotony from usual lab experiments he doesn’t forget to organize family gatherings. His family trips with us along with Vibha ma’m and lovely Mohit are also worth mentioning. I will always cherish the all ‘adventurous cook your own food’ New Year parties at Sir’s home. Similarly, the annual cricket matches between SLS and SCMM with Mohit are some moments which I can never forget.

My sincere thanks to my other supervisor, Prof. Shyamal K. Goswami who has been so helpful and available for me whenever I have needed his help and guidance.
I am sincerely grateful to Prof. Chinmay K. Mukhopadhyay (faculty, SCMM, JNU), “iron man of JNU” who was equally helpful and constructive in his association. He willingly and selflessly helped me with his comments for experimental design and interpretation and all other things that matter. He is genuinely a gem of a person. Special word of thanks goes to Dr. Snehlata Bhadoriya (faculty, SLS, JNU), for her timely excellent and useful suggestions.

My special thanks to the Dean, Prof. R. Madhubala for providing excellent facilities in the School. I also appreciate the help and thoughtfulness rendered by her in the way she is managing the School. I would like to acknowledge the assistance of Mr. S.K. Mishra and Mr. Aslam in using the facilities at the Central Instrumentation Facility (CIF) at SLS, JNU. Meenu ma’m of SLS office deserves special mention for her cheerful, friendly and caring attitude. I am also thankful to unending list of people belonging to SLS family.

With a deep sense of gratitude, I wish to express my sincere thanks to our foreign collaborator Prof. Joachim F. Ernst for providing me the opportunity and lab space in his group at Heinrich Hein University, Dusseldorf, Germany, where I learnt a lot.

A special mention must go to, Shanker Bhaiya “our SOS response” and “most wanted” person of lab who helped me wherever possible even out of the way with office affairs and is simply inseparable from the research that I carried out. The help of Gagan, Vijay, Ramesh, Bijendra and Manish is also acknowledged.

Special Thanks to my senior Dr. Tulika Prasad (faculty, AIRF, JNU) from whom I learnt all of my research skills. She is a perfect role model one could inspire from her glittering carrier. Warm regards goes to my other seniors and colleagues Sudhanshu, Ritu, Versha, Dibyendu, Absar, Raman, Manisha, Nidhi, Khyati, Hina and Monika for many useful discussions. I cherish the moments with my juniors, Ajeet, Indresh, Manpreet, ever helping Ashutosh, Haseeb, Ejaz, Akansha, Meetu and obedient Vipin.
The present group of researchers in the lab also gave me the feeling of best friends I could have asked for. Antresh, specially has been both a labmate and a soulmate. With him around, no problem or challenge has been big enough to scare me. Sarmistha and Sanjiveeni were not to be missed with whom I had good time in helping with the work problems and discussions. They were always there for me during all the ups and downs of my Ph.D. career and my personal life. I do not know how to acknowledge my family. I feel so lucky to have so understanding parents who let me achieve whatever I always wanted to. I would have never been able to achieve anything without their support and encouragement. For all their sake, I hope that I have achieved something worth a mention. My loving sisters and brother also deserve special mention for their continuous support and interest in what I do. I cannot move on without special words of thanks to my better half for being my support system, for constantly reminding me to take care of myself, for taking her time to listen to everything that I had to say and of course being patient enough during our periods of separation... and for the countless other reasons which make her a huge part of this piece of work. I wish to thank my extended family also for their understanding and support. At times, it has been good to know that they have just been a phone call away. Financial assistance from CSIR in the form of JRF and SRF is gratefully acknowledged. I like to thank my bike DL 3S AV 0636 without which I could not have availed the day scholar facility. I apologize to those whom I might have inadvertently forgotten to mention and acknowledge by name. Last but not least, thanks to the ALMIGHTY, without whose blessings nothing would have been possible.
