Acknowledgement

I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude and sincere appreciation to my supervisor Professor Pradip Chaudhury for his erudite suggestions and able guidance. It was his insistence on depth, clarity and precision that has encouraged me to give the topic a sharp focus. He has been extremely generous in devoting his time towards the development of the thesis, many a time disregarding his personal conveniences. His all-round cooperation has gone a long way in enabling me to complete the study within the stipulated study leave period. In addition to this, visits to his residence used to be a matter of pleasure in the warm company of Mrs.(Dr.) P.Chaudhury.

I put on record my sincere gratefulness to the Governing Body of St. Mary's College, Shillong and the Government of Meghalaya for granting me the study leave to pursue Ph.D. I am personally obligated to Sister (Dr.) Philomena Kharakor, the Principal of the college who was instrumental in my applying for the fellowship. I thank my departmental colleagues for their cooperation. I express my sincere thanks to the University Grants Commission, North-Eastern Regional Office, Guwahati, Assam for granting me the Teacher Fellowship under its Faculty Improvement Programme. I would like to make a special mention of Dr. K.P.Singh, Deputy Secretary, U.G.C., New Delhi for his kind help.

I would like to make a special mention of Professor Arijit Sen, Professor A.L. Nagar (Centre for Studies in Diplomacy, International Law and Economics, School of International Studies) and Dr. Sugato Dasgupta, whose Second and Third Semester courses on Micro Economics, Statistics and Econometrics I have attended and have benefited immensely from these illuminating lectures. I personally owe a lot to Dr. Sugato Dasgupta and Professor Krishnendu Ghosh Dastidar for helping me in more than one way. I acknowledge with gratitude the invaluable intellectual inputs provided to me by Professor Ram Prasad Sengupta (on the topic), Professor Anjan Mukherjee (on chapter three), Dr. Archana Agarwal (on chapter three), Professor P.M.Kulkarni and Professor M.D.Vemuri of the Centre for the Study of Regional Development (on chapter two), Dr. N.Srinivas Rao of Zakir Hussain Centre for Educational Studies and Professor Ashish Bose. The administrative staff of the Centre deserves a lot of appreciation for their cooperation.

I acknowledge with gratitude the assistance extended to me by Dr. D. Roy Chowdhury, Asstt. Registrar General, Demography Division, Census of India, New Delhi, Shri. A. Roy Chowdhury, Asstt. Director, Census Operations, Meghalaya and Dr. B.Dey, Deputy Director, National Sample Survey Organisation, Meghalaya who apart from supplying me with the necessary secondary materials (some of which happen to be from their personal collection), ungrudgingly clarified my doubts about various concepts during their busy office hours.

I put on record my thankfulness to The Chief Executive Officer, Shillong Municipal Board and the Director of Health Services, Dept. of Health and Family Welfare, Govt. of Meghalaya, Shillong for supplying me with the necessary data.

I thank the library staff of National Institute for Public Finance and Policy, New Delhi, National Institute of Health and Family Welfare, New Delhi, Centre for Women's...
I would like to express my heartfelt obligation to my local guardian Shri. S.C. Sharma, Librarian, Academic Staff College, J.N.U and his entire family for their affectionate care during my stay here.

I express my thankfulness to the entire staff of Ganga Hostel, who along with it's serene ambience has made the hostel truly 'a home away from home'.

My thanks are due to Mr. K.Verghese and Ms. Sish Kaur (Computer Centre, SSS) for their help. My thanks are also due to Ajoyji and Umeshji of the J.N.U Yoga Centre, under whose guidance I could enhance my power of concentration and the ability to labour.

My colleagues and close friends Dr. Jaya Gupta Chowdhuy, Ms.Utpala Sewa, Dr.Paramita Dey, Ms.Irene.M.Nongbet and Ms. Supta Gupta deserve a special mention for their support. I remain indebted to Jayadi for her help.

I thank my close friends Sangeeta, Paramita, Sudakshina, Rima and Manu who, though younger in age but senior academically helped me with their concrete suggestions at different stages of the study. I have no words to thank Sharmistha who has taught me the nuances of the statistical techniques of data analysis with admirable sincerity and personal concern. Friends like Nupur, Ticy, Ankita, Priyanka, Mitu, Anita, Chuba, Enakshi, Sushree, Jyothi, Ritu, Elizabeth, Amrita, Angira and Alakananda have made the hostel life so 'livable' with their help and affectionate touches.

I acknowledge the good wishes and support extended to me by my ex-students Geetali, Gayatri, Bernadine, Badamonlang, Sangeeta, Rajasree, Chitralekha, Paramita, Nilanjana and Dimpy.

At this juncture, I remember with reverence my teacher Late (Prof.) Sunil Kumar Chakrabarty who so lovingly introduced me to the wonderful world of Economics.

Lastly, I am grateful to God for having blessed me with such a family that is the essence of my 'being', my mentor and pillar of strength.

I bear the responsibility for all the errors in this thesis.

Sanjani Das Gupta.
