ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am very happy and proud to complete and submit my thesis. Lot of people have made contributions to this work. I take the pleasure in mentioning them here. I express my gratitude and appreciation for all these people.

Thank you very much to my guide Dr. Maitrayee Chaudhuri and former supervisor and guide, Prof. T. K. Oommen, for their illuminating guidance, cooperation and encouragement. My sincere appreciation goes to my guide for her efforts in spending untold hours, receiving the drafts, suggesting improvements and correcting errors. Dr. Chaudhuri has been indeed of valuable assistance all through out.

Dr Gita Bamezai, Achala Ji, Savyasaachi, Dr Kaustav Bandhyopadhyay, Mr Mathew Cherian and Govind furnished me with information and inspired me with ideas. They gave me valuable advice as part of my discussions with them. I hope to look forward to continuing discussion with them. I know how busy all of them had been and I am grateful to them for their timely, continuous and unquestioning help. I thank them.

I am also indebted to all those people, that is, governing board members, president, staff members, the partners and others associated with the Environment voluntary development organization and the Health voluntary development organization for generously accommodating me during my spell in their organizations.

My entire family has been of tremendous help. They have constantly provided me with always much-needed, moral support, physical efforts and encouragement. I am indebted to them for sacrificing time that we might have spent together, so that this thesis could be written and submitted in time. I am sincerely obliged to them. This thesis is devoted to my family.

Any inaccuracy in this thesis is completely my own responsibility.
