Acknowledgements

For me the study “China-Pakistan Strategic Relations in the Post-Cold War Era” was a great learning experience. I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks and gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Savita Pande for continuously encouraging, giving me insights and suggestions in due course of writing this thesis. In deed, the present study owes its shape due to her constant guidance. She has been a formidable source of inspiration at every level of my tedious mental preoccupation. Therefore, working under her has been a privilege for me.

For every intellectual pursuit, there always lies a silver lining which provide as a driving force to pursue the milestone with a spirit of no turning back. It is at this point I owe my sincere and heartfelt gratitude to my earlier supervisor, Prof. S. D. Muni, for extending me full support and cooperation and above all for ever being so supportive. I am also thankful to Prof. Satish Kumar, for his help and support at the most crucial phase of my career, for which I owe my deepest debt.

This opportunity to pursue my research would not have been successful without the assistance from the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR), for which I render my thanks for awarding the Fellowship.

Special thanks go to the staffs and members of JNU Library, Teen Murti Library, IDSA Library, South Asia Foundation, Center for Chinese Studies (CSDS), Sapru House, and the American Information Center in helping me access to books and materials of my requirements.

I also take this opportunity to extend my heartfelt thanks to my friends, who have supported me at various stages of writing this thesis. It was their encouragement that kept the midnight lamp burning while writing this thesis. Some of them include: Mr. & Mrs. Aveek Roy, Mr. & Mrs. Srinivas Rao, Mr. & Mrs. Ramlal Shah, Mr. & Mrs. Pramil Panda, Madam Revathy, Om Prasad, Sankar Prasad Duria, Gagan, Vasudha, Samuel, Chander, Anil, Dr. Himanshu, Dr. Kanjana Pongpisanuo, and all others. My heartiest thanks goes to Sitakanta Mishra, Dr. K. N. Tennyson, and Samatha for proof reading the draft.
Above all, I am indebted to my parents for providing me moral support and encouragement throughout the study and by allowing me to go miles and miles away from them to realise my dreams.

In Gratitude

Valte