ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This PhD thesis is the result of a challenging journey, upon which many people have contributed and given their support. At the end of my thesis, it is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

At the outset, I would like to express my very sincere gratitude to my honored supervisor Dr. (Mrs.) Shakuntla Gupta, Professor, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala who encourage me to remain focused on achieving my goal. Her observations, invaluable suggestions, benevolent encouragement, easy accessibility even at odd hours and comments helped me to establish the overall direction of the research and to move forward with investigation in depth. With a very keen eye, she read my work and adjusted the course of my research, while giving me much confidence and freedom to pursue my own research interests. I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Inderjeet Singh and Dr. Parmod Kumar Aggarwal for providing valuable feedback at both the initial and closing moments of this thesis, who has advised me several times on statistical issues.

In the same way, my thanks to Dr. Ramesh Kumar Bansal, Prof. and Head, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala for his kind patronage rendered to me in accomplishing this task, I sincerely express my gratefulness to all the faculty members of the Department of Economics, especially Dr. Sukhwinder Singh, Dr. O.P. Mighlani, Dr. Gian Singh, Dr. Lakhwinder Singh, Dr. Jaswinder Singh and Dr. Gurbachan Kaur Bhatia for their precious suggestion given to me during the period of research work. My appreciation and thanks are also to Mr. Manmohan Singh Bawa, Personal Assistant to Prof. and Head, Department of Economics, Punjabi University Patiala for his infinching help at each and every stage when I needed.

I would like to place on records my sincere thanks to the authorities of the department of horticulture of Punjab, Himachal Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh. I would fail in my duties if I do not acknowledge the help given by the staff of market committee Chandigarh, sampled farmers, traders, commission agents and wholesalers, for their ready co-operation during the collection of data.
My special thanks to Mr. Bhagwan Dass and Bittu Khann commission agents of Chandigarh fruit market for their exceptional help to arrange meetings and collection of data from farmers. I also thankful to my friends Dr. Dharminder Singh, Mr. Rakesh Kumar and Ms. Shallu Gupta for their immense moral support.

I am thankful to the library staff of Bhai Kahn Singh Nabha Library, Punjabi University Patiala and Mohinder Singh Randhawa Library, PAU, Ludhiana and the staff of Punjab University Library, Chandigarh, who assisted me in getting relevant information on this subject.

Finally, I take this opportunity to express the profound gratitude revered from my deep heart to my beloved parents and grandparents for their love and continuous support—both spiritually and materially. I also would like to thanks my husband, Mr. Pavandeep Singh Bhullar who helped me from the beginning to the end of this thesis work, my son Mehtab Singh Bhullar and my niece Sirat Kaur Bhullar, for their love and patience.
