Acknowledgement

The first of all to whom the credit is extended by me has been Dr. Pankaj S. Suvera, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, Vallabh Vidhyanagar. Who has served me not only as an academic guide and teacher but more as a friend, philosopher and guide, from the day of the conception of the thesis up to the day of its submission to the proper hands of the Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidhyanagar. I thank Dr. Pankaj S. Suvera for his worthwhile evaluation and brotherly care at every stage. I can not find any adequate words to express my indebtedness to such a conscientious guide.

I am also very much thankful to (Dr.) Suresh M. Makvana sir, (I/C. Head dept. of Psychology), Dr. Samir J. Patel sir and Dr. S. N. Pathak, for providing invaluable Suggestions, guidance and their encouragement. I am also thankful to the other non teaching staff of Dept. of Psychology for their moral support and encouragement.

I am really thankful to all the various school teachers who gave me co-operation for data collection. I cannot forget to thanks to all participants who gave me their responses for my research work without their co-operation.

My heart throbs with deeper feelings of gratitude to my father Amrutlal vaghela, my mother Nayanaben Vaghela, my husband hemant and my brother Naren and Alpesh. I am also very thankful to my friend’s Sunil, Vikash and Nikita for their co-operation in data collection. My thanks are once again due to one and all who have contributed one way or the other, and been helpful to me in my pursuit of this research.

I am always grateful to Almighty God who inspires me and instils in me the strength as well as abilities to accomplish my work.

Lastly I express my thanks to those all who have helped me directly and indirectly during the completion of my research work.
