CONTENTS

Introduction

0.1 Some Historiographical Considerations  1-9
0.2 Sources  9-12
0.3 The Chapters  12-13

1 The Age of Patronage, c. 1850 - c.1905  14-45

1.1 Poets, Patrons and Forms of Patronage  15-24
1.1.1 Poets and Patronage  15-19
1.1.2 The Patrons  19-24
1.2 Changing Forms of Patronage: The Subscription System  24-30
1.3 The Decline of Patronage  31-43
1.3.1 Arangettram  31-36
1.3.2 Sirappu Payiram  36-40
1.3.3 The Evolution of the Title Page  40-43
1.4 Concluding Remarks  43-45

2 The Transition: From Patronage to the Public, c.1905 - c.1921  46-76

2.1 Subramaniya Bharati  47-65
2.2 M.V. Ramanujachari and the Tamil Mahabharatam  65-72
2.3 The Dilemmas of Transition  72-76

3 Towards the Market: The Rise of the Novel  77-101

3.1 The Popularity of Tamil Fiction  77-82
3.2 The Critique of Popular Fiction  82-89
3.3 Women and Popular Fiction  89-93
3.4 Responding to Criticism  93-96
3.5 Towards Respectability  96-100
3.6 Concluding Remarks  100-101
4  Authors, Publishers and Printers  102-141
4.1 The Authors  102-118
4.2 The Publishers  118-131
4.3 The Printers  131-140
4.4 Concluding Remarks  140-141

5  The World of Popular Publishing  142-184
5.1 Elite Contempt for Popular Literature  143-147
5.2 Gujilee: From Place-name to Metaphor  147-152
5.3 Ballads and Chapbooks  152-160
5.4 Authors and Publishers  161-168
5.5 The Elite and the Popular: Some Aspects of Interaction  168-181
5.5.1 Nationalism and the Chapbooks  169-173
5.5.2 Appropriation and Sanitization of Popular Texts  174-181
5.5.2.1 Elite Poets and Popular Literature  174-179
5.5.2.2 Sanitizing Popular Texts  179-181
5.6 Silencing the Popular Press and the Incomplete Hegemony of the Middle Class  181-184

6  The Colonial State and the Book  185-233
6.1 The Acts and Administration  185-192
6.2 Annual Reports and the Quarterly Catalogues  192-196
6.3 Mechanisms of Control  196-205
6.4 State Patronage of Books  205-206
6.5 Copyright  206-209
6.6 Policing the Book  209-232
6.6.1 Eroticism and Expurgation  209-221
6.6.2 The State and Political Literature  221-233
6.6.2.1 Nationalist Literature  221-227
6.6.2.2 Publications of the Self-respect Movement  227-231