ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is very difficult to believe that this thesis would have attained its present form but for the valuable suggestions so kindly extended by my supervisor Dr. Shams-ud-din at all stages of its preparation. I express my profound gratitude to him for not only supervising the present work but nourishing the whole idea from its synopsis stage to its last finishes. I also feel indebted to my teachers, Prof. Devendra Kaushik, Prof. Zafar Imam, Prof. R.R. Sharma, Prof. Arvind Vyas, Dr. Nirmala Joshi, Dr. Shashi Kant Jha, Dr. Anuradha M. Chenoy, Dr. Tulsiram, Dr. Ajay Patnaik and Dr. Tahir Asghar.

I also take great pleasure in acknowledging gratefully the efforts of all those great savants whose works in any shape or form have been utilised in this thesis. Acknowledgements are due to the staff members of the JNU Library, New Delhi, Library of Congress, Washington, George Town University Library, Washington, Columbia University Library, New York, School of Oriental and African Studies Library, London, Sapru House (ICWA) Library, New Delhi, and the IDSA Library, New Delhi.

Multi-dimensional support of the following individuals is also recorded here most thankfully: Prof. Shaligram Shukla, Mrs. Malati Shukla, Dr. Sharma, Dr. Jayakumar, Dr. Y. Jaiswal and Dr. Santosh Dubey.
Numerous friends at University and particularly in the hostel sustained me in the moments when the problems at hand appeared insurmountable. I know that their moral support has been invaluable. I am especially grateful to my sister Amba, my friends Debananda, Kanjivalochan, Mohan, Rajendra, Rakesh, Sanjay Jain, Sanjay Malik, Shailendra, Trilochan, Tuladhar and many others. The most important debt I need to acknowledge is that which I owe to Shri Jagdish Chander Vidyarthi who undertook the typing work.

Nevertheless, the faults and errors in the present work are entirely my creations.
