ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis would not have been possible without the encouragement, guidance, and assistance rendered to me by many persons and some institutions. I therefore take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to them.

To my dearest mother, Mrs. Nengtin Lhungdim, who nurtures me with the best of her love and for EVERYTHING. I specially dedicate this thesis to her.

I fondly remember my late grand-parents — Ex.Sub.Thanghem Lhungdim, M.C. and Mrs. Lamjalhei — who took great care for my well-being. I also express my indebtedness to my uncles, Pu Jamsei Lhungdim (Chief of Molnom), Hemjathang Lhungdim, Pu Holkholun Lhungdim (Principal, Zion Public School), and other close relatives for the love, constant encouragements, support, guidance, etc.

My special gratitude to Professor Aijazuddin Ahmad, my esteemed and erudite supervisor. His valued guidance, dialectical approach to problems, concern and interest in varied social issues have greatly inspired me to research on the present theme and complete my thesis. I am also grateful to Madam Nasim Aijaz (and other members) for always nice and kind to me.

I also express my thankfulness to the faculty members of the Centre for the Study of Regional Development, for the knowledge they imparted to me during my studentship and encouraging me to pursue my research interest.

To my friends Hemkhopao Lhungdim, Seikholen Lhungdim, Sukajit Ningthoujam, Pradeep Satapathy, Sandeep Sarkar, T.Ravi Kumar and Malu (Sucharita), Victor, Lanusashi, S.K. Acharya and Sangmitra, Mahabir Jaglan, Ganesh Chandrasekhar, A.K. Patro, Aneo Kipgen, Kim Lhouvum, Nehemiah Panmei, C. Ignatius, and many other friends who helped me at various stages. I also thank those friends and individuals for their invaluable assistance during my field work (in different parts of the study area), and for their pertinent informations, critical evaluations, etc.
I also thank Prof. Rameshwar Singh (Dean, Students Welfare), and his staff, Dr. V.K. Jain (Sr. Warden, Brahmaputra Hostel) and Maniram (Caretaker) for extending to me hostel facilities till the submission of my thesis.

Special thanks are also due to the University Grant Commissions for the valuable fellowship (1984-89) awarded to me. This assistance tremendously influence my academic pursuit and expedite the completion of my thesis. Also, I thank the staff of the J.N.U. Library, non-teaching staff of the Centre for the Study of Regional Development, and staff of Dean’s office, Social Sciences, for being very helpful all the time.

Special thanks to my friend Mr. Gimson Awungshi, M.A., M.Phil. (JNU) for his thoughtfulness and prolific assistance at the crucial stage.

I also thank Amit, Sanjeev, and Vipin (Reproductions India) for handling the laser-type setting work, and to Raju for making copies of the thesis.

While acknowledging the help rendered to me, the responsibility for any lapses in the work rests entirely on me.

Lastly, I thank the Almighty for this opportunity and the manifold blessings meted out to me.
