ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The present study owes its shape to my supervisor, Prof. R.C. Sharma, Political Geography Division at the Centre for International Politics, Organisation and Disarmament Studies of School of International Studies, JNU, New Delhi. I am highly indebted and express my earnest and sincere gratitude to him, for his illuminating guidance and encouragement at every stage of the study. He has been a formidable source of inspiration at intellectual level. He did not only see to it that I work sincerely and whole heartedly but also that I should not get stuck either in the process or after that. It is rare these days to get a 'guru' who combines the best of old and modern times.

I am grateful to Prof. K.S. Jawatkar, the chairperson of the centre and others for their encouragement.

I am obliged to Mr. Sunder Lal Bhauguna, Mr. V.K. Saklani and Mr. Mirza Beg who helped me a lot at Tehri during my field work stay. Their help in providing literature, maps, guidance etc., can not be expressed in words.

I take this occasion to express my deep gratitude to Mr. Pratapa Ram Meghwal and his family as well to Mr. Moti Ram Vishnoi, who were always there in all my ups and downs at Khejarly village field work stay.

Special thanks are also due to Ms. Megha Patkar and her associates for rendering their assistance to me and seeing that I was as comfortable as possible while going on with my field work at Manibeli and surrounding areas.
I am very grateful to University Grant Commission for providing Research Fellowship during my Ph.D. tenure. This helped me in continuing with my academic pursuit.

I would be feeling guilty if, I forget to express my thanks to Mr. Susant Ghosh and Maneesha, for making necessary corrections in the manuscript, R. Gopa Kumar for helping me in cartographic works, and Mr. Basant Kumar, for giving utmost care in typing.

I must extend my note of thanks to Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, Prayavaran Bhawan Library, Delhi and Sumer Public Library Jodhpur, for their guidance and co-operation.

At last but not the least, my deepest respect and gratitude for emotional support go to my parents and family members, Mr. Bhaga Ram Meghwal, who has been friend and source of inspiration. It was he who gave me the idea of joining JNU that was in fact a new beginning in my life. I also convey my heartiest thanks to numerous friends who rendered me necessary help and support during my thesis work. Among them Bannji, Arvind, Dr. Bhagwanji, Jhaji, Sekhar, Rawat, Rana, Harsh, Gopal, Nehalji, Sanjayji, Pande, Asutosh, Lakhpat deserve special mention.

Once again, I would like to acknowledge here and express my sincer gratitude to all those who offered me their support and inspiration during my stay on the JNU Campus.
I would like to dedicate this work to the people who have laid down their lives while fighting for environmental cause, in various parts of our country and the world as well.

The responsibility for the short comings and errors, if any however, belongs entirely to me.

21 July, 1994

J.N.U. New Delhi.

[Signature]

(RAJENDRA PARIHAR)