ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the conclusion of this study, it is incumbent upon me to humbly acknowledge the profound assistance and help rendered to complete this work by my teachers, colleagues, friends and family.

First and foremost, I acknowledge with deep reverence and gratitude the constant encouragement and very patient support received from Dr. P. H. Lodhi who guided me throughout this endeavor. His insight and concepts were the guiding beacons for my work.

I also record my sincere appreciation and gratefulness to my colleague Ms. Savita Deo, the entire staff of the Department of Psychology, University of Pune, and Ms. Anuradha Karkare for their invaluable assistance during the course of this work. Dr. S. D. Gore provided the much needed support for analytical assistance in this work and I thank him with a deep sense of gratitude.

A large number of institutions, schools and personalities, especially the children also rendered their unreserved assistance in the data collection for this unique study. I thank them sincerely for their unconditional and timely support and participation in this venture.

My parents, husband and children have ensured that I overcame my blues and tenaciously carried on with this study to its logical conclusion. Without their understanding attitude and mountains of help and encouragement this thesis would not have seen the light of the day. I am overwhelmed with gratitude and dedicate this work to them.
