Acknowledgements

I owe the greatest debt of gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Jaya Prakash Pradhan for his gracious guidance, valuable suggestions and personal encouragement which made this study possible. It was difficult to have a firm hold on the analytical backbone that underpins the phenomenon called trade and employment. The task was made remarkably less arduous with discussion of numerous theoretical papers on trade and labour market where my supervisor was kind enough to spare his valuable time for a series of such brainstorming sessions in his office room. He was always watchful to make sure that I am on the track and in comfort zone; his critical interventions helped me to get back on my focus area whenever I tended to depart. I consider myself privileged to get an opportunity to work under his supervision.

I am grateful for the support and advice from my M.Phil Supervisor Dr. Vinod Sen. I am also thankful to Dr. Indira Dutta, Dr. Kshamanidhi Adabar and other faculty members. I owe a deep sense of gratitude to Prof. R. K. Kale, first Vice Chancellor of Central University of Gujarat and Prof. Man Singh, who supported me with solid encouragement emotionally and financially. I also express my sincere thanks to Prof. Sunil Narwade of Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, Aurangabad and Dr. Partha P. Sahu of Institute of Studies in Industrial Development for his constant support and inspiration during the itinerary of this work. I am very grateful to Dr. Vinoj Abraham, Uma Sankaran and Anurag Anand for proving kind support from Centre for Development Studies, Trivandrum. I would also like to sincerely thank to Dr. Manoj Kumar Sahoo for his excellent editorial support.

My special gratitude is devoted to my colleagues and friends namely, Ashok Kumar Maurya, Anand Sugandhe, Mukesh Kumar Solanki, Manoj Kumar, Ruchi Patel, Thounajam Somokanta, Dhammdip Gaikwad, Vikas Waghmare, Kapil Meena, Azmat Ali, Mohammad Nizamuddin, Ravi Thorat and CSERP family. I wish to express my deep appreciation and thankfulness to Mr. Tareef Husain for providing valuable assistance and taking care in extracting NSS unit-level data on Indian Unorganised Manufacturing and other supports.
