ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This Ph.D. Thesis is the culmination of a few tears of fervent learning and research experience. Throughout these years, I have received a lot of support from my family, research guide and friends. It is my duty to acknowledge them all. I take all this opportunity to extend my heartfelt thanks to all those contributed to make this PH.D. Thesis a success. I give glory and honor to Almighty God for his blessings, wisdom and guidance for enabling me to complete my thesis.

I express my deepest gratitude and indebtedness towards my supervisor, Dr. Rajinder Singh Sandhu, Associate Professor, Guru Nanak Dev University, for the kind co-operation and help which he extended wholeheartedly during the research work. His valuable suggestions and criticism have inspired me to put my best efforts into my work. Unless his through supervision, the work would never taken shape.

I would like to thank Professor, Jagrup Singh Sekhon, Head of Department of Political Science, GNDU, Amritsar for his motivation and support during the course of my thesis. I express my humble thank to my teachers Professor Kuldip Singh and Mr. Harmeet Singh, Sr. Assistant professor. I am also thankful to Dr. Satnam Singh Deol and Dr. Harpreet Kaur, faculty members of the Department of political science. It would be incomplete if I fail to express my heartiest gratitude to Late Prof. Gurnam singh, and Professor Parmjit Singh, Department of Sociology who sowed seeds of education in my life.

I am indebted to my parents, who showed me this beautiful world always stood during my hardships, ups and down of my life. I also extend my heartfelt thanks to my brother Ravinder Singh and sister kawaljit kaur and Grandfather S. Jagir singh for their love and sacrifices that they have made for me.

I would also like to thanks to my wife Dr. Pardeep kaur for supporting and encouraging me throughout this course of study. I will be failing in my duties without expressing my special thanks to Madam Inderjeet Sandhu and her daughter Mehar Sandhu for providing me the required stimulus, encouragement, and moral support during the difficult times.
I am especially beholden to my colleagues, Dr. Gurvel Mahli, Sukhjit Singh, Navpreet Kaur, Puneet Dhillion, Harblas Singh and HOD of Department of Political Science, Khalsa College, Amritsar for invaluable support, assistance and their insightful comments on the work.

My heartless thanks are due for all my nears and dears who have been directly or indirectly responsible for the completion of this work specially to Dr. Baljit Singh Sekhon, Director Support University of Nagaland because without his assistance it is impossible to interact with the peoples of Nagaland. I also express my gratitude to my Ph.D. mates specially Iqbal Singh, Balljit Singh Lali, Gurjit Singh, Nirmal Singh, Lalit Kumar for their cooperation and inspiration for the accomplishment of this work.

I am also indebted to University Grants Commission, New Delhi for providing me the funds under Research Fellowship Scheme for pursuing my Ph.D. WORK AT Guru Nanak DEV University, Amritsar. My sincere appreciation and thanks are due to the Liberians, especially Mr. Ramesh Sharma, Department of Political Science and Bhai Gurdas Library, Guru Nanak Dev University. My sincere thanks are due to the library staff of Jawaharlal Nehru University, Delhi, Sapru House and Centre for the study of developing Societies, New Delhi. The support of non-teaching staff can’t be skipped acknowledging as they managed to take our eye off the administrative uses, so that all of us could focus solely on research.

Once again, I simply and humbly say thanks to you all.
