I feel immense pleasure to express my sincere thanks and deep sense of gratitude with pride as it has been my privilege to work under the able guidance of my supervisor Dr Paramjeet Kaur Dhindsa and co-supervisor, Dr Sukhpal Singh, who by their keen interest, deep perception and constant encouragement instilled in me the confidence to carry out this study and helped me through their valuable suggestions and constructive criticism in the preparation of this thesis. I express my sincere thanks and gratefulness to Dr Sharanjit Singh Dhillon, Registrar, GNDU, Dr Paramjeet Kaur Nanda, Head, Punjab School of Economics, GNDU, Amritsar, for providing me the necessary facilities for the successful completion of this research work.

I am grateful to Dr Manjeet Kaur Randhawa, Mr Amritpal, Dr Shruti Bhogal, Dr K S Sangha and Dr M S Sidhu for critically evaluating the manuscript and valuable suggestions.

Mere words of acknowledgement will not suffice the expression of my special thanks to my colleagues and friends Dr M K Sekhon, Dr Simran K Sidhu, Dr Shalini Sharma, Dr Vinay Sharma, Dr Raj Kumar, Dr J M Singh, Dr Jasdev Singh, Dr J Sachdeva, Dr Parminder and Dr Arjinder for their encouragement and motivation which rendered a great help in the completion of this study. I am also thankful to Mr Pardeep Kalia, Ms Rakhi Arora, Mr Satwinder Singh and Ms Prabhdeep Kaur for their ever-available help.

I find no words too complementary to acknowledge in so formal manner to the sacrifices, love, help and inspiration rendered by my wife Pavneet and daughter Harneet.

Words at my command are not enough to thank my parents and in-laws with the blessings of whom I am up to now. I am also thankful to my brother Gurmeet, brother-in-law Kanwardeep, sister-in-law Mandep, nephew Dilraj and niece Sukhreet for their love, encouragement and moral support.

The help and co-operation rendered by the field staff of this department is fully acknowledged.
