Acknowledgements

With the help of God’s grace, this journey have touched the horizon and come to a successful end. I want to extend my gratitude to the people who supported me during the entire journey. First and foremost, I would like to thank the Almighty, who showered many blessings and helped me to achieve the goals.

I owe my deepest gratefulness to my guide Dr. Neeta Shrivastava, PhD, for her vision, insight and encouragement to complete this piece of work. She has enlightened my path with her knowledge, experiences and given me full moral and emotional support. She has given me lots of inspiration to do hard work and show me the path to take this work at successful and efficacious conclusion. Her pertinent guidance, suggestions and constructive criticism are the resilient means which enrich my knowledge, methods of working, which further helped in carrying this piece of work.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. Harish padh, as the former director of B.V. Patel PERD Centre, Ahmedabad who have recognized my zeal to do Ph.D and gave me opportunity to join the centre. This opportunity have gracefully and optimistically sustained by Dr. Manish Nivsarkar, Director, B.V. Patel PERD Centre, Ahmedabad for kindly permitting me to continue the study in the institute. I thank him to provide all the facilities to conduct the research and to make the environment optimum for learning. My sincere thanks to Dr. Kamala K. Vasu, Dean Student’s Affairs, for her valuable suggestions and constant encouragement.

It had been my proud privilege to have an opportunity to learn under the inspiring and stimulating guidance of Prof. C.J. Shishoo, men of prodigious learning.

I would like to thank University Grants Commission, New Delhi for giving financial support for the study in the form of Research Fellowships.

I thank the Nirma University to allow me to undertake such a project for PhD. I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to various faculties of PERD Centre and NIPER-Ahmedabad to make me complete my compulsory coursework through classroom teaching and for their precious time given to my evaluation. I thank them all for their suggestions during my seminars and presentations.

I am highly obliged to Dr. Y.T Jasrai, Dr. Vimal Kumar and Dr. Harish Padh as the members of Research Progress Committee, for their positive criticism and scientific suggestions given during research progress meetings. Inspite of manifold preoccupations they had, they taken interest in getting this work improved and finally completed

I would like to acknowledge teams and organisations for sharing their resources for carrying my research. I would like to thank the director and employees of the Directorate of Medicinal and Aromatic Plant Research, Anand (Gujarat); Jawaharlal Nehru Ayurvedic Medicinal Plants Garden and Herbarium, Gandhinagar, India; Dr. Mahesh Patel (Medicinal and Aromatic Plant department of Anand Agriculture University, Gujarat, India); Dr. Arun M. Gurav (National Research Institute of Basic Ayurvedic Science formerly Jawaharlal Nehru Ayurvedic Medicinal Plants Garden and Herbarium, Pune, India); Dr Rambabu Dube (Maharana Pratap Agriculture University, Udaipur, Rajasthan, India); Dr. H. L. Dadhik, Junagadh Agriculture University; Government Medicinal Botanical Garden, Rajpili; and District Forest Officer of Udaipur in 2011 and their staff, Mr. Digvijay Singh, Mr. Pushpendra Thakkar and Mr. Lalit (Rajasthan) for their assistance in plant collection and authentication. I would like to thank also to team of Xcelris Genomics Labs, Ahmedabad (Dr. S. Chikara, Mr. Shobhit Gupta, Ms.Pooja Shah) as well as to Dr. C.G. Joshi, Head, Department of Animal Biotechnology, Anand Agricultural University, Anand, and his students to help me in completing the sequencing part. I sincerely thank to Dr. Sheetal Anandjeewala to help me in microscopy part.

Helpful and caring seniors is the great part of the life. They create the path of wisdom and learning on which we step in. It is my sincere duty to express my thanks to my seniors for their valuable guidance and suggestions. I am indebted to Dr. Astha for making me learn molecular biology techniques. I also thank to Dr. Anshu for her constant support, motivation and make me learning good laboratory practices and good writing skill. I express my gratitude to Mr. Tejas Patel to help me in selecting the project.

All time when you stuck somewhere, friend are always there to sail our boat. Life is incomplete without the true friend who always find the good things in u, even if we fail to do so. I would like to thank my dear friends Pooja, Sheetal and Indira for being nice and helpful during my whole journey. They are a step ahead of me and I learnt many experiments, their troubleshooting from them. I would like to thank my fellow PhD students Suhani, Neeraj, Abhirami, Anuroopa for their constant support, encouragement.

It was a pleasure to work with NIPER M.Pharm and PhD students Rakhi, Triveni, Gaurav, Mayur, Nancy, Heta, Bhavesh and Manish. This list of NIPER students is endless, for their help in the lab and making life fun while working and during celebrations in the centre.

I would like to thank administrative and technical staff members of the PERD centre to be kind enough to offer advice and help in their respective roles. I thank Saraswati mam and Jacob sir for their administrative support. My sincere thanks to Trivedi bhai, Sujit bhai, Bhavini ben and Mona Ben for maintaining fellowship accounts and issuing utilization certificates well on time. I also thank to Prakash bhai and Jasani Bhai for maintaining and providing the supply of experimental requirements in time. Vinayak bhai and Madhavji have helped me to resolve for computer related technological problems. I am thankful to Amrutbhai, for indenting, maintaining and issuing latest journals, periodicals, books, magazines, newspapers to me.
I am also thankful to Dinesh bhai to keep me informative about the calls, faxes, posts. I also thank Shyamji bhai, Sanjay bhai, Shakti bhai, Mangal bhai, Mahesh bhai, Harkha bhai, Raju bhai, Jagdish bhai and other staff members who have helped in my study by maintaining clean glasswares, culturewares, laboratory premises, biohazard waste management and specially during heavy instrument installations.

Ph.D is a long journey which cannot be completed without the sacrifices the family members have made for me. Blessings of my parents Mr. Ramesh C. Sharma and Mrs. Meenakashi Shukla as well as my in laws Mr. Om Prakash Bhargava and Mrs. Usha Bhargava have given me strength to reach the end. They have taught me ‘Patience, Perseverance and Pursuance’. They always encouraged me to keep the eyes on the failures and to stand up again. Mothers are always have very special place in everybody life. My both mothers have taken care of my daughter when I was unable to do. They have shaped her childhood with profound care, affection and love. I also acknowledge my younger brother Shubham for being resilient.

The process of Ph.D is not very smooth, it is like walking on the cantankerous path passing through many crust and troughs. It was not possible for me to surf on the waves without the love and support of my life partner Mr. Ravi Bhargava. He is such an adorable person who has sacrificed a lot, to make me complete the Ph.D without exhausting. He always walked along with me in every good or bad situations. He wore my depression and stress and soothes me with his love, support and encouragements. I would also like to thanks his friends Mr. Santosh Sharma and Mr. Chetan Vilas Jawale, Ms. Nisha for troubleshooting the problems in PCR and sequencing. At last but not the least I want to extend my warm love to my sweet little daughter Sharvi. The little has grown with my Ph.D. She have kept a lot of patience and acceptance whenever I left her in daycare. She daily waited me for long hours until I returned to carry her. As soon as I reached, her sprinkling eyes, delightful smile, sweet stammering voice and small naughty deeds help me to keep my guilty and anxiety in check. She is the precious gift of god and my gratitude for her cannot be confined in the few words. These words are so insufficient to manifest my gratitude and thankfulness. I once again want to thank all who have supported my journey of Ph.D. At the end, I apologize, if I missed someone to be mentioned and acknowledged.

* Sonal Sharma