ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to show my deep gratitude to my guide Dr. Shirin L. Kudchekar who inspired me to start this research and has encouraged and helped me throughout. I thank her for her valuable guidance during the last few years.

I am greatly indebted to my family, who were always a source of strength to me. My husband Bhupendra, my daughter Manika and my son Gaurav were constantly beside me, encouraging and helping me in all the ways they could. Without their affectionate support this thesis would not have been possible.

I am very grateful to Dr. Barbara Godard of York University, Canada, who during her visit to Bombay discussed with me my research plan and offered useful suggestions. The discussion with her was highly stimulating. I am also indebted to Mrs. Jean Johnson from New York, who visited SNDT University and took keen interest in my work. I am thankful to her for the books and other useful material she sent from New York from which I have benefitted greatly.

I am indebted to Sonal Shukla for her constant encouragement and for making some vital books available to me not only from the "Vacha" library but also from abroad. I greatly appreciate her help and support.
Dr. Mary-Jean Green sent me copies of some relevant issues of "The Liberator" published in 1856. These were very useful in helping me gain a deeper insight in my work. I am very grateful to her.

The ASRC Hyderabad and the USIS Bombay have been very helpful in providing me useful books and xeroxed material. I would like to acknowledge my debt to these institutions for all the help given. I also appreciate the help and co-operation extended to me by the SNDT Library during the period of my research.

I thank Kunjlata Shah for the interest she took in my work and for bringing for me from USA books and other material relevant to my area of research. I owe my gratitude to Mitra Parikh, discussions with whom were always highly stimulating.

I owe my sincere thanks to Mr. Ubhare for typing my thesis in the tight schedule given to him. I appreciate his co-operation.

Finally, I am grateful to my brother Amar, who, because of his interest in my work, regularly sent me necessary books, xeroxed material, bibliographies and recorded material from Canada. Because of him I could get books and xeroxed articles which would not have otherwise been available to me. My expression of gratitude would be incomplete if I did not mention my parents who instilled in me the desire for academic pursuit.
