9. REFERENCES

References

Davis, A.R., N.M. Targett, O.J. Mcconnel and C.M. Young, 1989. Epibiosis of marine algae and benthic invertebrates: natural products chemistry and

References

References

References

References

characteristics on biofouling formed on polymers exposed to coastal sea water of India. Colloid Surf. B:Biointerfaces, 91: 205-211.

References

Patil, J.S. and A.C. Anil, 2005. Biofilm diatom community structure: Influence of a potential tool for the control of biofouling on marine optical instruments.

Paul, M., 1942. Studies on the growth and breeding of certain sedentary organisms

Pereira, R.C., A.G.V. Carvalho, B.A.P. Gama and R Coutinho, 2002. Field experimental evaluation of secondary metabolites from marine

Variation in chemical defences against herbivory in Southwestern roles of natural products of the Brazilian red seaweed Laurencia obtusa.

of commercial enzymes on settlement and adhesion of cypris larvae of the barnacle Balanus amphitrite spores of the green algae Ulva linza and diatom measurements of lanosal levels in Rhodomela larix (Turner) C. Agardh. J.

Antifouling potentials of extracts from seaweeds, seagrasses and

References

References

References

References

References

