"The Library is not a shrine for the worship of books. It is not a temple where literary incense must be burned or where one's devotion to the bound book is expressed in ritual. A library modify the famous metaphor of Socrates, should be the delivery room for the birth of ideas - a place where history comes to life”

Norman Cousins

Cited in ALA Bulletin, 1954