ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am indeed indebted to Dr S.K. Patil, Librarian, Professor and Head, Department of Library and Information Science, University of Pune for his invaluable guidance and providing practical insights in the subject of my research. He has always been pursuing my research work with novel ideas. His constant supervision, and encouragement and willingness to spare valuable time for my work has helped me to complete research, otherwise it would not have been possible.

When some research work has to be completed, you need cooperation from everyone surrounding you. The Sanskrit language was alien to me herebefore. But it was Professor Jayant Gohad, my Senior colleague and intimate friend, Head, Department of Political Science, N. Wadia College, Pune who came to my rescue and explained to me the interpretation and subject contents of Sanskrit and Marathi manuscripts related to Jyotishshastra and Khagolshastra. He spared a lot of his valuable days for me religiously. My nephew, Dr. Tushar Sakhare helped me to understand the contents of Sanskrit manuscripts on Ayurveda. I can never forget the obligations of these two individuals.
I am also grateful to the Assistant Secretary of Modern Education Society, Pune, Vice Principal and an enthusiastic academician and dynamic administrator Dr M. M. Andar, for his encouragement, support and positive response in everything. I am also grateful to our Principal Dr Bhagawan Thakur, for his positive support in academic and research activities. He himself is a well known critic and poet in Marathi Literature. I am also thankful to Dr S. L. Bonde, Life member of M.E, Society, Pune and Vice Principal N. Wadia College for his support.

There are many more people who have helped me throughout my life—relatives, friends and many more. Here, I must give priority to my close blood relatives—my younger brother Sunil and younger sister Nirmala, for their support in my educational endeavour by all means. I could come to Pune in 1982 to complete my education because of these souls.

Among my intimate friends, I am really obliged by Professor Raosaheb Sangapal, Mrs. Sangapal, Professor Dr Sham V. Vadetwar, Professor Nerkar for their moral support and being with me during my thick and thin times of my life. I must express special thanks to Mrs. Suhasini Patil, our Bhabhi and well wisher, for her support and encouragement. I am thankful to my another intimate friend Shri Arun Kakade for his cooperation and well wishes. I would like to give special thanks to my student Ashish Pande for his timely help and pains taking job of DTP.

My family members, Mrs. Pratibha daughters Manasi, Preeti, Medha and son Mayur who always suffered due to my absence in the house but whole heartedly supported me to carry out my research and academic assignments. I am indebted to all of these dear and near souls.

Last but not the least, I am really very grateful Jayakar Library Staff members for their cooperation. Among them are Sanjeev Sonwane, Dr B. M. Panage, Shri Kamble, Shri Vaidya, Shri Rajendra Chikate, Shri Navale for their cooperation in every respect to make use of library resources.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all my colleagues in N. Wadia college library, Shri L.R. Kamble, Deepak Potdar, Mrs Neha Late, Mrs. Padma Pardeshi, Shri R.R. Shukla, Shri Manohar Patekar, Usuf Modi and others for their support and taking care of the library in my absence.
