Acknowledgement

It gives me immense pleasure and proud privilege to work under the guidance of Dr. Sarmistha Sen Raychaudhuri, Reader in Biophysics, Molecular Biology and Genetics, University of Calcutta. Her constant encouragement, invaluable advice, constructive suggestions, active involvement and meticulous supervision at every stage of my work helped me profoundly to complete my thesis. My gratitude beggars all expression to my revered teacher and guide.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to all the teachers of the Department of Biophysics, Molecular Biology and Genetics – Prof. R. K. Poddar, Prof. B. B. Biswas, Prof. A.B. Sanyal, Prof. A.R Thakur, Dr. A.S. Chakraborty, and Dr. A. Lahiri for their constant encouragement and co-operation throughout the tenure of my research work.

I am specially indebted to Prof. U. Chaudhuri for his valuable suggestions on chemical assays for curcumin estimation. I am sincerely grateful to Prof. C. K. Dasgupta and Prof. Uma Dasgupta for constructive suggestions on molecular biological experiments. I express my profound gratitude to Dr. S. Kundu for helping me in statistical analysis.

I am especially thankful to Dr. S. Mukherjee, Head of the Department of Biophysics, Molecular Biology and Genetics and director of DIC for useful suggestions in data collection and computational facilities. Laser printing of my thesis and reference documentation were thankfully received from DIC centre of CU.

I am thankful to Prof. P.K. Mondal and Shiv Govind Prasad of Saha Institute of Nuclear Physics for the use of gamma radiation chamber.

I am also thankful to Dr. Papia Chakraborty of B.K.C. College and Dr. Anindita Chakraborty of IUC for useful suggestions.
It will be injustice if I don't thank Md Aftabuddin specially for computer designing of my thesis.

I am greatly thankful to all the research scholars and scientists of the Department of Biophysics, Molecular Biology and Genetics, particularly Jayshreedi, Shaondi, Sanmoyda, Madhumita, Arunima, Arpita, Sanchita, Sarmistha, Sunipa, Anjali, Bama, Urmi, Ushri, Ananya, Anindita, Dibyendu and Subhendu for their active cooperation and encouragement during my research work.

I express my sincere thanks to Suhita and Yasmin for their unstinted assistance in preparing my thesis.

My very special thanks are also due for Mr. Nishith Roy and Mr. Kanu Das who have taken photographs in various stages of my research work with utmost care.

Financial help from CSIR is gratefully acknowledged.

I must mention my gratitude to my parents which is really beyond expression and never forget the support and encouragement provided by my brother and sister.

Lastly, I thank heartily my husband, Dr. Arup Sahu for his whole hearted support, patience and sacrifice during my research work.

Sumana Roy 17/6/05
Sumana Roy