Acknowledgments

Thank you God for giving me physical, mental and intellectual strength. Without all this, I could have never thought of doing any research.

I would like to thank my biological family, my mother, father, sisters and their husbands and brothers, for all the sacrifices you have made for me.

I would like to express my special gratitude and thanks to my advisor Prof. Dr. Dipti Misra Sharma, you have been an outstanding mentor for my research and my life. And, my co-advisor Prof. Vineet Chaitanya for your selfless time and care that kept me going. I would like to thank both of you for supporting and encouraging me to grow as a researcher. Your advice on my research as well as for my life will remain priceless. In fact, this entire work would have not been possible without your guidance.

Prof. Amba Kulkarni, Dr. Soma Paul, Prof. Aditi Mukherjee and Mrs. Shanti Karlapalem for the times when I felt helpless and found none but one of you.

Dr. Savita Saini for infusing courage into my veins. Acharya Anandprakash ji and Acharyaa Neeraja ji for making me eligible to enter IIIT-Hyderabad. Thank you for introducing the traditional Indian knowledge to me.

I would also like to thank all of my friends who supported me to strive towards my research and in writing the thesis. I would like to express special appreciations to my dear friend, Pratibha Rani for spending sleepless nights with me. You were always there at any time to support me in the moments when there was no one to answer my queries. Thanks to Mr. Arjuna S.R. (University of Hyderabad) and Pt. Madhava Achar for sharing the traditional knowledge on sādbodha (parsing). Thank you Sriram Chaudhury, Kavitha Rajan, Rafia Begum, Himani Chaudhary, Ganesh Katrapati, Himanshu Sharma and Sushant Kishore for your support.

I am also thankful to my thesis proposal review committee for the reviews and comments.

Thank you, the great Indian tradition and western scholarship, on your shoulders, I stood and began my journey into the world of knowledge.
I acknowledge and thank IIIT-Hyderabad, for being an exceptional institute, especially Language Technologies Research Center, Anusaaraka lab, Library, Yuktahar Kendra, Physical Education Center, Aarogyaa and management team for providing a healthy environment to grow in all directions.

I am grateful to my thesis reviewers Dr. Sriram Venkatapathy (Amazon India, Machine Learning Scientist), Dr. Rajesh Bhatt (University of Massachusetts, Amherst) and Prof. Girish Nath Jha (Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi) for the detailed review comments on the draft version of my thesis. Your comments have enhanced the quality of my research work.

My special thanks to my dear friends Dr. Tejaswi Kandula, Dr. Sheetal Pokar, Dr. Shailaja Nakkawar, Mrs. Shirisha Manju, Mrs. Roja Puppala and Mrs. Maha Laxmi for the space and time you have given to me in my life as well as in my research.

Prof. Shatrunjay Rawat, Mai (Mrs. Vimala Rawat), Dr. B.M. Mehtre and Usha Bhabhi ji, Kirti didi, Chandan ji, Ankita didi, Saurabh Bhaiya, Madhu sir, Kavita Amma, Geeta Katkar, Nirmal Surange, Pulkit Velani, Swajit Singh Gaud and Aniket Bhalkikar for the encouragement and for standing by me in all the sorrows as well as in happiness. You have been an extended family for me. I have learnt not only academics but also many life lessons from you.

Vineet sir, Dipti ma’am, Bhrata ji (Prof. Shatrunjay Rawat), Mai, Usha Bhabhi ji, Teju, Pratibha didi, Savita didi and Neeraja didi all of you need a greater acknowledgement than I can express here, for the thinking that you have developed in me, for the constant encouragement, for the guidance and criticism and for the inspirations. I understand that this work stands no where in front of your vast knowledge and ideas, at the same time, I also acknowledge that without your ideas, guidance, support and efforts I might have not accomplished this.

My sincere thanks to all mentioned as well as unmentioned friends and other members of this extended family for the guidance, support, love and care I have received from you.
