the unique CCMB work culture that allowed me to complete various experiments smoothly.

I am grateful to our collaborators Prof. David Schlessinger, Dr. Nagaraja Ramaiah, Dr. Minoru S.H. Ko, Mr. Dawood Dudekula, and Mr. Yulan Piao (National Institute on Aging, National Institutes of Health, Maryland, USA,) for bioinformatic and microarray analysis. I also thank Prof. Andras Nagy, Canada, and Prof. Allan Bradley, UK for kindly providing us the mouse embryonic stem cell lines and methods for their growth in vitro.

Dr. Madhusudhana Rao and Dr. Satish Kumar were helpful in scientific and administrative inputs. Dr. Jomini Liza Alex, Mr. Partha Sarathi, Dr. Vishnu Mukund Dhople and Dr. Curram S. Sundaram helped me find my feet when I had just joined the lab and taught me most of the techniques. I sincerely thank them. They also inspired me for preparing quality seminars, and to participate in conferences.

I thank former and present RS lab members for their warmth, suggestions and help. Poonam, Suhasini, Anjana, Sudha, Kalidoss, Ravindra, Dolly, Athira, Shivani, Ranjani, Manoj, Kolawole and summer trainees have been very friendly, cooperative, helped me various ways and provided me support. I am grateful to Poonam for help with my thesis revisions. Mrs. Ganga Bhavani was invariably kind and often assisted me in administrative matters. Raju, Joy and other lab tech services personal made sure that there was a constant supply of autoclaved reagents and clean glassware.
The excellent CCMB support facilities that included the highly efficient instrumentation, digital imaging, reprography, photography, fine biochemical and stores sections made my work smoother. I also thank the library, hostel, canteen and workshop staff for their cooperation.

I’ll remember with fondness all the great times I have shared with my batch mates Nagabhushana, Aneesh (Intel), Panoli, Mohan, Satish, Aravind, Vineet, Uma, Shaheen, Sirisha, Abhay and Hina. I will always treasure Nagabhushana’s invaluable friendship. I also thank Sourav, Ritika, Chandrashekar, Vijay, Srividhya, Mukund and all my friends who made my stay at CCMB very pleasant.

I thank Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR), India, for providing fellowship.

I am grateful to my Parents Mr. Komarla Govinda Sathyanarayana Setty and Mrs. Komarla Sathyanarayana Jayalakshmi who played the fundamental role in shaping my educational life. Mrs. Madhava Surendranath Sowmya, my lovely wife, has always stood by me and has been a pillar of strength particularly in testing times.

I thank the rest of my family for their constant encouragement and support. Finally, I express my gratitude to everyone else who helped me for PhD.

Rakesh.
