CONTENTS

Acknowledgement

Abbreviations and symbols used

Transcription

Chapter-1 Theoretical background

1.1 - Introduction 1

1.2 - Objectives and scope of the study 7

1.3 - Telugu 9

1.4 - Language, dialect 14

1.4.1 - Causes for variation in speech 15

1.5 - Regional variation 16

1.5.1 - Regional dialects of Telugu 17

1.6 - Standard language 19

1.7 - Social dimension of speech variation 21

1.7.1 - Social stratification 22

1.7.2 - Social class 22

1.7.3 - Language and Socialization 23

1.7.4 - Education and speech 25

1.7.5 - Variation in pronoun usage 29

1.7.6 - Stylistic variation 31

1.8 - Studies on speech variation related to social stratification 33

1.9 - Social structure in India 43

1.10 - Social change India and its impact on social structure 47

1.11 - Social stratification in Andhra Pradesh 53
Chapter-1  Kinship
1.12 - Studies on kinship

Notes and references

Chapter-2  Methodology
2.1 - The sample
2.1.1 - The variables
2.1.2 - Sampling method
2.1.3 - Size of the sample
2.2 - Composition of the sample
2.2.1 - Economic class
2.2.2 - Education
2.2.3 - Age
2.2.4 - Sex
2.2.5 - Caste
2.3 - The castes represented in the sample
2.4 - Classification of castes
2.5 - Methods of data collection
2.5.1 - The questionnaire
2.6 - Method of Analysis
2.6.1 - The Chi-Square Test

Notes and references

Chapter-3  Statistical analysis of the data
3.1 - Null hypotheses
3.2 - Testing the association between kinship terms and the sociological variables.
3.2.1 - Testing the association between kinship terms and class
| 3.2.2 | Testing the association between kinship terms and caste | 146 |
| 3.2.3 | Testing the association between kinship terms and education | 164 |
| 3.2.4 | Testing the association between kinship terms and age | 181 |
| 3.3 | Tables showing the chi-square values between kinship terms and the sociological variables, and their levels of significance. | 198 |

Notes and references

Chapter 4 Description of kinship terms

4.1 | A note on kinship terminology in Telugu | 202 |
4.2 | Description of terms of address from the data | 207 |
4.3 | Speech variation | 269 |
4.3.1 | Class and speech variation | 269 |
4.3.2 | Caste and speech variation | 273 |
4.3.3 | Education and speech variation | 278 |
4.3.4 | Age and speech variation | 280 |

Notes and references

Chapter 5 Summary and conclusions

5.1 | Language and society | 285 |
5.2 | Social change and speech variation | 288 |
5.3 | Social mobility and speech | 294 |
5.4 | Speech variation and the individual | 295 |
5.4.1 | Class | 297 |
5.4.2 | Caste | 299 |
5.4.3 | Education | 302 |
5.4.4 - Age
5.4.5 - Migration
5.4.6 - Cultural contacts.

Notes and references
Bibliography

Appendix
i  - Map of Nellore
ii - Questionnaire
iii - Graphs
   a - Distribution of speakers of various classes in different educational categories
   b - Distribution of speakers of different age groups in different educational categories
   c - Distribution of male and female speakers in different educational categories
   d - Distribution of male and female speakers of different age groups in different educational categories
   e - Distribution of speakers of various caste groups in different economic classes.
   f - Distribution of speakers of various caste groups in different educational categories

Tables
iv - Terms of address in Telugu used in the region under study (numerical frequencies and percentages)
v - Frequencies of terms of address used by speakers of various caste groups.
Frequencies of usage of terms of address by speakers belonging to different classes, educational categories, age-groups, and caste-groups.