ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The present study on some of the correlates of dropouts in the field of higher education was completed due to the relentless efforts of my teachers, family members, and friends.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to my guide Dr. (Mrs.) V. Veeraraghavan, for her scholarly guidance, inexhaustible patience and constant encouragement which enabled me to complete this work.

I am thankful to all my teachers Prof. Tapas Majumdar, Prof. Ghosh and others for their interest in my research. I am also grateful to the centre for awarding me the centre fellowship for my doctoral work.

The present study would not have been possible without the help and cooperation of the principal and staff of the twenty colleges in extending their cooperation and giving me the needed data. Indeed the prompt response from the dropouts and their families facilitated early completion of this work.

I wish to acknowledge the help extended by the librarians and staff of the libraries of J.N.U., N.I.E.P.A., N.C.E.R.T. and A.I.U.

I am indebted to all my friends, specially Deepika for encouraging me at different stages of my work.
It may sound formal but, I must put on the record the moral support and cooperation given by my husband which served as a constant source of courage all through this work.

I would be failing in my duties if I do not acknowledge my family members for all that they have done for me.

Last but not the least I would like to thank Mr. Sachdeva for typing this thesis.

All the data collected in this study is by me and I accept full responsibility for my errata.
