ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This dissertation is being submitted in partial fulfilment of the Ph.D. Programme in Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. I wish to thank Dr R. Champakalakshmi of the Centre for Historical Studies in the University for guiding my research so ably and devoting considerable amount of her time to make my arguments presentable.

I wish to thank the Director and Staff, Kerala State Archives, Trivandrum, for making available the valuable documents which have formed the basis for this study. A number of documents have transcribed by them at short notice. I also wish to thank the Director and Staff of Tamil Nadu State Archives, Madras for making available the Fort St. George Records and several other documents. Several important sources were suggested to me by Dr K. Maheswaran Nair, Sri Adoor K.K. Ramachandran Nair, and Dr C.K. Kareem. I wish to thank them all.

I am also indebted to Dr M.G.S. Narayanan and other members of the Department of History, University of Calicut, for giving all help for my research. A number of friends, many of them research students in History, have encouraged me at various points of time. I wish to acknowledge their kind words and help rendered.

I wish to thank my father, whose constant encouragement was the major source of inspiration in my doing research. Finally, I wish to thank Anandi, whose help was very essential in completing the dissertation.

(K.N. Canbol)